When Frank Herbert ordered pizza from Pizza Huts, he was surprised that Judit, at such an old age, worked as a delivery driver. That's when the 89-year-old man first came into the sight of the Herbert family. Judit Newey started delivering pizza in Roy, Utah, to help pay the bills, as his social security benefits（社会保障金）weren't enough to live on. From the moment the Herberts heard him say, “Hello, are you looking for some pizza," Judit found his way into their hearts!

Ever since that day, whenever they place an order, they ask for Judit personally. It didn't take long for them to begin recording their sweet meetings and share them on TikTok, which is how thousands of other people fell in love with Judit. Still, his fans couldn't help but wonder why someone at his age was working so hard—question the Herbert family was asking themselves too. They spoke with Judit, and when they found out he works 30 hours a week to make ends meet, they decided to collect donations to make his life easier. They figured anything would help, but the total sum which is up to $12,000 really surprised them!

In September, the couple decided to switch things up by showing up at Judit's door with a couple of gifts. First, they surprised him with a cute cartoon shirt of himself holding a pizza box. Then they revealed the surprising act of generosity that brought him to tears! They explained that they had rallied their TikTok community to support him, and while he's not entirely sure what the platform is, he couldn't be more thankful.

“How do ever say thank you? I don't know what to say, "he told them. "I don't know what to say, except thank you." The Herberts insisted they were just the messengers. It was his fans who made the wonderful gift possible. Plus, the way they see it, they're just repaying Judit for his kindness.

Professor Cooper once gave a lecture in his first acting class for us in the first term, informing us of the significance of valuing the business of acting. As I made preparations for my graduation as a senior, I thought back on the lecture in the first class and I considered my love for the art of theatre seriously. I'm more than happy to say that, for the most part, my determination for acting remained as strong as ever.

Even after I've learned about the difficulties and the heartbreak that go with working as an actor, I know that it is still the right path for me. Something Professor Cooper said in that first acting class has stuck with me through these last three years. He said, "Every actor chooses to act for their own reasons—personally I do it because I have to. I have to perform. It's who l am." For as long as I've been performing, I've wondered how to best describe why I do what I do. Professor Cooper answered that question for me that day.

When I was little and first imagined what it would be like to be a real actor, I would imagine being famous about by many people someday. However, I never actually wanted that. I act because no matter what is going on in my life, no matter how stressed I am with what's happening outside of or during practices, when I'm on stage, I'm home and I'm me.

Many parents will feel worried about their children's choosing to be an actor. Some will be surprised. My parents are just exceptions. They knew from the start that nothing was going to keep me from doing what I love.

8. What did the author realize after recalling what Professor Cooper said?

A. She learned acting for fun.　　B. She didn't love acting at all.

C. She had enthusiasm for acting.　　D. She didn't take acting seriously.

9. What does the underlined word "that" in paragraph 3 refer to?

A. Imagining being a real actor.　　B. Becoming well-known one day.

C. Practicing on stage.　　D. Being stressed during practices.

10. What's the author's parents' attitude to her choice?

A. Doubtful.　　B. Objective.　　C. Disappointed.　　D. Supportive.

11. What is the main idea of the text?

A. Who inspired the author to act.　　B. The reason why the author chose acting.

C. The acting changed the author's life.　　D. What the author learned about acting.

【8~11 题答案】

【答案】8. C　　9. B　　10. D　　11. B

坚定。）”可知，作者回想起库珀教授的话后，意识到了她对表演很有热情。故选 C。

【9 题详解】

词句猜测题。that 表远指，根据第三段的“I would imagine being famous about by many people someday（我想有一天会被很多人所熟知）”可知，that 指的是作者想要变得有名这件事，即 Becoming well-known one day，故选 B。

【10 题详解】

【11 题详解】

主旨大意题。通读全文，尤其是第二段的“He said, "Every actor chooses to act for their own reasons—personally I do it because I have to. I have to perform. It's who l am."（他说：“每个演员选择表演都有自己的原因——就我个人而言，我这么做是因为我必须这么做。我必须表演。这就是我。”）”可知，本文主要讲的是作者选择表演的原因，故选 B。

There's one problem that Silicon Valley hasn't solved even though self-driving cars become more and more popular nowadays. That is the traffic jam. But a U.K. aeronautics and space company, Airbus Group, may find a solution. The company's branch in Silicon Valley recently announced it's been working on a secret project titled "Vahana", an autonomous flying vehicle which can be used for not only passenger but also goods transport.

Airbus' flying taxi is designed to resemble a drone（无人机）, traveling medium-length distances. Developers in France and Germany are working on an electrically operated platform that would allow the flying taxi to carry multiple passengers once between city destinations. The vehicle would initially be manned by a pilot, for no countries allow completely autonomous flying vehicles at present.

Flight tests of the first Vahana prototype（原型）are planned, in the hope of bringing the product to consumers quickly. That's about ten years sooner than another future-travel system Hyperloop One.

"I'm no big fan of Star Wars, but it's not crazy to imagine that one day our big cities will have flying cars making their way along roads in the sky," says Airbus Group CEO Tom Enders. "In a not-too-distant future, we'll use our smartphones to book a fully automated flying taxi that will land outside our front door—without any pilot.

But before you get too excited about beating rush-hour traffic, it's worth noting that the company has a lot of technological kinks to work out before the product is ready to test. The same sensor technology that allows self-driving cars to avoid accidents doesn't exist for aerial vehicles. Airbus Group isn't the only company trying to get in the autonomous air transportation game. There are a number of drone companies on the market and the Ehang 184, a Chinese passenger drone, will begin flight testing in June.

12. What is the purpose of the Vahana?

A. To explore space.　　B. To design a new type of car.

C. To reduce traffic accidents.　　D. To find a solution to the traffic jam.

13. Why would present flying taxi be manned by a pilot?

A. It may cause accidents.　　B. It is operated electrically.

C. It is designed to be manned.　　D. It is illegally permitted worldwide.

14. What do we learn in the last paragraph?

A. The Ehang 184 has been tested for flight.

B. Beating rush-hour traffic is in the near future.

C. There is a long way for Airbus Group to go in solving technological problems.

D. The sensor technology for self-driving cars can help aerial vehicles to avoid accidents.

15. What's the best title of the text?

A. A Self-driving Car is Designed.　　B. Airbus May Turn Flying Taxis into Reality.

C. Airbus Joins in the Air Transportation Game.　　D. A Bright Future of Autonomous Flying Vehicles.

【12~15 题答案】

【答案】12. D　　13. D　　14. C　　15. B

【解析】

【分析】本文是一篇说明文。尽管无人驾驶汽车越来越受欢迎，但还有一个问题没有解决：交通堵塞。为解决这一问题，英国空中客车集团（Airbus Group）正在研究可以同时用于客运和货运的自动飞行器。

【12 题详解】

细节理解题。根据第一段“That is the traffic jam. But a U.K. aeronautics and space company, Airbus Group, may find a solution. ”（那就是交通堵塞。但是英国航空航天公司 Airbus Group 找到了解决方案。）且结合后文知，Airbus Group 正在研究开发的 Vahana 就是为了解决交通堵塞问题。故选 D 项。

【13 题详解】

推理判断题。根据第二段中的“The vehicle would initially be manned by a pilot, for no countries allow completely autonomous flying vehicles at present. (该车辆最初将由飞行员驾驶，因为目前没有任何国家允许完全自动驾驶飞行器)”可知，目前没有一个国家允许自动驾驶的空中交通工具，因此现在必须有人驾驶。故选 D 项。

【14 题详解】

细节理解题。根据最后一段But before you get too excited about beating rush-hour traffic, it's worth noting that the company has a lot of technological kinks to work out before the product is ready to test. ”（但是在你变得对这能击败高峰时刻拥堵交通而高兴前，值得注意下这公司在产品准备好测试前，还有很多技术障碍需要解决。）可知，在这飞行器测试前还有很多技术问题需要解决。故选 C 项。

【15 题详解】

主旨大意题。根据第一段的“The company’s Silicon Valley branch recently announced it’s been working on a secret project titled “Vahana”, an autonomous flying vehicle that can be used for both passenger and cargo (货物) transport.(该公司的硅谷分公司最近宣布，他们正在进行一个名为“Vahana”的秘密项目，这是一种可用于乘客和货物运输的自动驾驶飞行器)”以及下文内容可知，本文主要讲述了美国空中客车集团正在研究可以同时用于客运和货运的自动飞行器。因此推断 B 项“Airbus 将使飞行出租车成为现实”为最佳标题。故选 B 项。

第二节（共 5 小题；每小题 1.5 分，满分 7.5 分）

根据短文内容，从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

We've all come across a bump（凸起）in the road. What sets people apart is how they react to that bump. Are you one to lose control in disappointment? Or do you catch hold of that wheel and push yourself straight? Whether it's a school assignment, or a work project, you all meet things that slow you down. ___16___

Sometimes it is easy just to give up and ignore the hard work you have put into something. You've already built a solid base on which you can rely. One barrier should not be the reason for you to give up all your previous efforts. ___17___ Keep moving forward, developing what you have.

So how can you react when something doesn't turn out as you've expected? Maybe that's because you don't make proper prediction, which is not a shame. ___18___ After all, nobody else is. You just need to step back and look at the situation. Then rearrange your next move. Ask for help if necessary. Oftentimes, people are more than willing to give you support and advice.

Bounce back. Reevaluate the goals you should have set for yourself at the beginning. Don't look at your unsatisfactory performance as a disaster or failure. ___19___ Concentrate on how great it will feel after it is finally done.

___20___ Keep reaching for your goals and you will achieve them. One minor barrier is nothing if you really want something and are willing to work for it.

A. View it with success.

B. Move on with your life.
