I remember sometimes when walking or driving behind an older person, I was impatient and upset.

‘I’m sorry. Please forgive me!’ said the old man, ‘I don’t mean to hold you up.’ He then tried his best to get out of the lift.

I suddenly saw this in a whole new light. I felt sick to my stomach. The old man was apologizing to everyone, when we should have helped him to calm his fears.

By the time I got to him, I asked, ‘Sir, can I help you?’

The man thought for a while, then said, ‘Well, yes, thank you!’

I placed my hand under his left arm and walked away from the rush of people quickly.

‘So what are you shopping for, sir?’

‘Oh, today is Mother’s Day. I want to buy something for my neighbour. She’s a single mother and she is always so nice to me,’ he said, stopping suddenly as he searched his pocket.

‘Oh, they are here! I always carry them with me,’ he said. Then he took out some business cards and handed me one which read:

‘John Smith.

Friend to all... enemy to no one!

I said a prayer today and you were the answer.

Thank you!’
