Travelling alone is a life-changing experience. I travelled alone a lot when I was 1 my early 20s. The experiences of travelling alone make me more adventurous (有冒险精神的). I think everyone should try at least once in their lives. Now I'm married. I go everywhere with my husband and it's just not 2 same. The feeling of being on an adventure 3 gone. I miss 4 alone.

I then thought of my 5 solo (单独的) trip to South America. I stayed there for six months. I find travelling with other people is not as 6 as travelling alone. When travelling by 7, I can visit a place that I didn't plan to see before. I 8 go there without having to agree with anyone first. I try to work out all my 9 on my own and I become more independent.

10, I hope that there are enough good hotels and safe transport routes (路线) in the places I will visit. So every time before I begin my solo trip, I have to make sure that the hotel is good and the transport routes are safe.

A

Some people are sharing their experiences of being a volunteer. Now let's have a look.

Judy, 22

I began to be a volunteer four years ago. I love children, so I teach them music in an after-class study programme. All of them are lovely children, and some of them are really talented in music.

Sandy, 14

I am a volunteer of an animal training centre. Dogs are my favourite animals. I think they are humans' best friends. I train them to listen to people's order and help disabled (残疾的) people. They are smart and understanding.

Mike, 35

I go to the old people's home at the weekend. I read newspapers to them and talk to them. Sometimes I take my son to go there with me. He is outgoing and the old love him very much. He often makes them laugh.

Mandy, 12

I'm going to volunteer in the Green Park this weekend. I will hand out maps to the visitors and guide them to the park. This is my first time to be a volunteer. I hope it will be a great experience.

I'm David. When I was 13, I went to England to improve my English. My parents prepared everything for my journey. My plane was due (预期) to leave at 9:30 am and arrive in two hours. I phoned the English family I would stay with and they told me they would wait for me at the airport.

Unluckily, my plane to London was delayed (延误). I tried to phone the English family again, but I couldn't contact (联系上) them because they had already left home for the airport. When I arrived in London, it was already 1:30 pm. But I found they were still waiting for me! I was so happy!

Then my new life in London began. The English family was quite kind. I learnt a lot of English because I spent most of the day talking in English. I played computer games with the little boy in the family. I also taught him how to play chess. Sometimes I told him stories I learnt from my family.

I missed my family during my stay in London, but I also felt sad when my stay there came to an end. The family held a party for me. I enjoyed it very much. I'll never forget that summer in London! It is one of the most wonderful experiences I've ever had.
