In our life, nobody wants to lose, but we must accept that losing is a part of life. 11, we can't win all the time. We can learn 12 valuable from every failure. This may help us succeed in the future. So we must know 13 to be a good loser.

We must not be afraid of losing. When losing, just accept it with a (an) 14 and look at the bright side. Failure can't be avoided in our life. Edison failed 1,000 times before he 15 the light bulb (灯泡). When he was asked how he felt, he said that he didn't fail 16 learned 10,000 things which didn't work. We must know that history is full of examples of men and women who achieved success although 17 failed many times.

Losing is not very disgraceful (丢脸的). We must accept our failure and learn from it. Remember that it can be 18. It can help us grow up rapidly. So we'd better take action to walk out of it. When we lose, think about what we did and how we can improve. If someone else can help, we'll be 19 enough.

Many people enjoy helping 20 solve problems. This can save us a lot of time so that the same mistake won't be made 21 in the future.

We should face our failure when we lose. There is only one 22 in every competition. Some win, while some lose. It's 23 for us to experience failure. The more active we are when facing the failure, the more confident we will be.

24, being a good loser will help us to be better in life. It might be painful 25 the beginning, but there are many advantages. Good losers set examples to us, and most importantly, they finally win.

阅读下面文字，从 A 到 F 选项中为每个段落选出一个最适合的标题。

What makes you happy? Different people have different answers—doing well at school, being picked to play in a sports team or receiving the birthday present you wanted.

 36 Every year since 2013, the world has celebrated International Day of Happiness. It falls on 20 March and was created by the United Nations (UN). The UN set up the day to tell people that happiness is important.

 37 This year, the goal for International Day of Happiness is “keep calm, stay wise and be kind”. Keeping calm reminds people not to let their worries out of control. Staying wise means choosing activities increases your happiness. Be kind to the people around.

 38 Research has shown that happiness is good for people's health. The happy people seldom get sick. The happier people will live longer and serve more to the communities where they live.

 39 Lots of scientific research shows we can improve our happiness if we use the right ways, such as trying a new sport, setting a new goal, telling a friend something you like about them and so on.

 40 No one feels happy all the time. Everybody may feel angry, nervous or sad from time to time. If you feel upset for a long time, you should talk to an adult you trust or share your feelings with your best friends.

- A. How to make yourself happy
- B. The meaning of happiness
- C. The advantages of happiness
- D. How to deal with unhappiness
- E. The date of International Day of Happiness
- F. The goal for International Day of Happiness

It is reported that about 300 million people in China have eyesight trouble. More and more parents hope to save their children’s poor eyesight with medicine or by correcting the ways that kids read and sit. But in fact, you should start with the exercise on your feet. Here are some ways to save eyesight.

Don’t tie your shoes too closely. Try wearing comfortable or soft socks. You can look after your eyesight by walking without socks or shoes at home. While you are traveling, try wearing cloth shoes to improve blood moving.

Walking on tiptoes (脚趾) is good for your eyesight. It can fight against eyesight trouble. Numbers show that most of ballet (芭蕾) dancers’ eyesight is better.

Rope skipping can also be good for your eyesight. While skipping rope, you have to move rapidly. Skipping rope makes not only the brain but also the eyes excited. Maybe it also helps you grow taller. So start skipping rope now.

Above all, you should often let doctor check your eyesight.

Electric cars may seem to be a recent invention, but they have been around for years. In the early 1900s, there were more electric cars on the road than 51 gasoline (汽油) cars. At that time, gasoline was expensive compared with other fuels (燃料), so electric cars were more popular.

When gasoline prices 52 and new technologies on gasoline cars were developed, electric cars were out of date. Gasoline cars became more popular in 53.

During the 20th century, gasoline cars got bigger, 54 (heavy) and faster. More and more people had bought gasoline cars. More fuel was needed. So this 55 more air pollution. When people began to 56 that there were not enough oil on the earth, they required car 57 (make) to produce more efficient (高效能的) cars.

One method of 58 (solve) the problem was a “hybrid” car, one that ran partly on gasoline and partly on electricity. Hybrid cars became popular in the 2000s because gasoline prices went up while prices of hybrid cars went down.

An all-electric car uses no gasoline. 59, the problem is that electric cars are not suitable for long journeys. Many people are not pleased with it. The government and the car factories are working together to develop safe, cheap and 60 (use) electric cars. When more and more people have these electric cars in the future, a gasoline station may disappear.

六、任务型阅读

Every Saturday, Wang Weifang puts on a play with his friends in a small town near Xi'an. The audience (观众) can hear them, but they cannot see them. That is because they are putting on a shadow puppet (皮影) play. Shadow puppets are made of hard leather (皮革). The leather is cut out in the shape of a person, an animal or an object. Each puppet is painted in bright colors and put on a stick. Some puppets have movable arms and legs.

During a shadow puppet play, Wang stands behind a white screen with lights behind it. The audience sit in front of the screen. Wang and his friends hold the puppets very close to the screen so that the audience can see the puppets' shadows clearly. Then they move the puppets around and do the voices of the different characters.

Shadow puppet play is a kind of ancient Chinese art. Now with TV and films, shadow puppet plays are not as popular as before. Wang and his friends often work very hard for little money, but they do not mind. They want to keep this traditional art form alive.

64. Why do Wang and his friends still work hard on shadow puppet plays without much money?
65. What's the best title of the passage?

It's unbelievable to save this black bear from falling off a 30-meter-high bridge.

The bear was (A) _____ her way home after a long day in a California's mountain. She was walking across the bridge when, suddenly, two cars entered from both sides. There was nowhere to run, so the frightened bear jumped onto the rail (护栏) and began to fall down.

Luckily, the bear pulled herself onto an arch under the bridge, but she couldn't get out. A driver saw the surprising scene and called for help. Robert Brooks, an animal control officer from a nearby arch n. 桥 town, was sent to find out the truth. "I thought it was a joke," he said. But it wasn't a joke, so he called Dave Baker of the BEAR League, a group that helps bears in (B) _____.

(C) Unfortunately, the sky was getting dark, so the workers who saved the bear had to wait. Early the next morning, Brooks and Baker returned to the bridge with more volunteers. To their surprise, the bear was still there. Then Baker had an idea. ① They should hang a net under the bear, push her into (D) it and then lower her to the ground.

Police officers closed the road. ② When the bear was sleepy, a volunteer rock climber used his feet to push the bear off the arch, right into the middle of the net.

③When the bear was gently lowered to the ground, everyone cheered. The police officers then cleared all the people from the area and left the bear alone when she slept. Since then, no one has seen the bear. “I don’t think she’s going near the bridge any more.” Brooks said.
