Wang Zhenyi was a great Chinese (1) _____. She was born in the Qing Dynasty. At that time, girls had no chance to get a formal education. However, her father and grandfather were open - minded.

They thought girls should share equal opportunities with boys. They (2) _____ her to read the books in their home library. Wang Zhenyi educated herself and read a lot about astronomy (the study of the stars, planets, etc.), maths, geography as well as medicine. Later, she decided to (3) _____ astronomy.

In her time, many people expected the stars to tell what was going to happen. They thought certain events in the sky, such as lunar eclipses (月食) happened when gods were angry. But Wang Zhenyi thought differently. She believed in facts and observation. In order to explain those "strange" events, she did some (4) _____. In one, she used a round table as the Earth, a lamp as the Sun and a mirror as the Moon. She moved them around to show what (5) _____ happens during a lunar eclipse: when the Earth is passing directly between the Sun and the Moon, the sunlight cannot reach the Moon and the Moon "disappears".

Throughout her short life, Wang Zhenyi wrote many articles about her research. In her articles, she explained difficult ideas in clear and (6) _____ ways so that people could understand science more easily. She helped make science available to more people.

43. (14分) Fill in the blanks with proper words. (在短文的空格内填入适当的词,使其内容通顺。每空格限填一词,首字母已给。)

Which would you rather spend your money on, an outing with friends or a pair of expensive shoes? It is my opinion that spending money on experiences brings greater happiness.

My first (1) r _____ is that experiences make us different as we grow. We are not the result of the things we've bought. Instead, we are the result of everything we've seen and done. For example, getting expensive clothes didn't (2) c _____ me as a person, but the camping trip last summer certainly did.

It made me more independent.

In addition, I (3) p _____ experiences because they bring people together. Sharing a new experience develops stronger relationships and creates long - lasting memories. Three years ago I met some teenagers on a study trip and now I am (4) s _____ in touch with them, but I hardly remember what I bought during the trip.

My final point is that, although some people say it is a great (5) j _____ to own things, I think using the things you own is more pleasant. For example, I spend most of my spare money on new parts for my old mountain bike, but I love the experience of (6) c _____, not owning bike parts!

To sum up, experiences make us who we are and develop stronger relationships. So next time before you pay for something, give it some (7) s _____ thought. Ask yourself, "Which will I spend my money on, an outing or a pair of shoes? "

44. (12分) Answer the questions (根据短文内容回答问题).

(Mike is telling a story. It happened when he was seven.)

It was New Year's Eve. In the morning, I heard Grandma tell Mum she needed a football for the New Year's Eve dinner.

"A football for the dinner? What's it for? " I wondered.

"Anyway, I will get one! I can do something nice for Grandma."

I remembered my friend Joe had an old football. I went out quietly and found him. I gave him my favourite mode car in exchange for his football.

I took the football home, shined it and put it on the living room table secretly. I waited in my room for Grandma to notice it.

"Mike!" Mum shouted.

I ran to the living room. "Why can't you put your things where they belong? Get the football out of here!"

"But it's for Grandma!She said she needed a football for the New Year's Eve dinner." I said.

"A football for the dinner? " Mum laughed.

"No, Grandma needs a fruit bowl, not a football."

"Fruit bowl sounds like football!I have done a silly thing!" I went back to my room , embarrassed and disappointed.

Before dinner, Mum came in and asked me to meet my uncles and aunts.When I walked into the living room, Grandma was showing them a pretty fruit bowl with the old football in its centre, I was surprised.

"Look!" Grandma said.

"Today Mike brought me a nice present, this football.Isn't it beautiful? " She continued.

"It's beautiful, yes—because anything from a child is beautiful."

(1) How old was Mike when the story happened?

(2) What did Mike give Joe to get the football?

(3) Whom did Mike expect to notice the football?

(4) Why did Mike think he had done a silly thing?

(5) What did Grandma do with the football?

(6) How might Mike feel after hearing Grandma's words? Explain why.
