Reading history books can let us learn from great people in history. A history book that you can't miss is

Historical Records, or Shiji (《史记》).

Sima Qian, an official (官员) during the Western Han Dynasty (206BC—AD24) wrote it. The work records the events (事件) beginning with the famous Yellow Emperor and ending with the first years of the Han Wudi period, covering around 3,000 years.

In this book, I really like how the writer describes different people. For example, there's Da Yu, the founder of the Xia Dynasty. He tried so hard to stop a big flood (洪水) that he refused to enter his home while passing by three times. I hope to be a great person like Da Yu.

There are also two famous farmers, Chen Sheng and Wu Guang. They led a group of people against the Qin Dynasty and led the way for the Han Dynasty. Their story shows that every human, what ever their birth, can become something great if he tried his best.

When I read this book, I could see how Sima Qian made the characters (人物) come alive with his words. This makes the book full of strong feelings of love and hate, and I love the stories.
