(2018 河北中考)

“Volunteering makes you look at the world differently. You see how little things can change a person’s life for the better, which makes everyone a better person,” Mason, a volunteer said.

National Volunteer Week started in 1974 and is held every April. It is a time to thank volunteers for their achievements. It is also a perfect opportunity (机会) to encourage others to take their first step toward becoming a volunteer. Making the decision to take the first step can be the biggest problem, because they often wonder if they will be able to meet the organization’s expectations (期望). Some people fear not knowing anyone else in the group. Not having enough time also prevents some from sharing their abilities.

The following tips can help if you have some of these worries:

- Start out slowly, don’t add too much pressure. Even a few hours a month can make a big difference in someone’s life.
- Choose an organization with the same interests and common values.
- Take part in a training meeting for new volunteers, even if it is not asked.
- Work with a veteran volunteer. He volunteered a lot; he can help you increase the confidence and completely understand the organization’s expectations.
- Invite a friend or family member to serve. It is a good experience to volunteer with them.
- Finally, it is most important to enjoy the volunteer experience and to remember that not all volunteer experiences are perfect. If one experience doesn’t work, don’t give up and you’ll surely find the right opportunity.

Spend some time on volunteer work and you will see great changes in people’s lives. As Mason discovered during his volunteer experience, “...little things can change a person’s life.”

In Los Angeles, a waiter served a group of teens. The waiter remembered his experience as a young high school prudent. So he made sure the teens had a pleasant experience at the restaurant. The waiter made sure of it.

After serving all the teens doing a great job, he was left a tip (小费), only $3.28. That was hardly enough to buy a drink at Starbucks.

The waiter went home. And he felt hatred for the students who did not know the value of hard work. They looked down on people like him. Or so he thought.

After several days, the waiter forgot about it. His life went on as usual. But ten days later, he received a letter from the teens.

“About a week and a half ago, on October 7, my three friends and I came to eat at this restaurant as our own homecoming celebration. It was an exciting experience for us to be here alone, and it was all new to us. And you were the best waiter we could ask for. You were kind, helpful, and didn't treat us like babies! So I want to say thank you for making our ‘grown-up’ experience so amazing and fun.

“I would also like to say sorry on behalf of(代表) my group. Since we were new to all of this, our 13-year-old minds didn't exactly know how to deal with the bill. The bill was reasonable(合乎情理), but we had completely forgotten (and didn't know, to be honest) what a tip even was, let alone how much to give. So we emptied our pockets, and all our money added up to $3.28.

“Having no idea of how small this really was, we left. Later, we realized our mistake and felt terrible. We knew we had to make it right.

“So together with this letter, you will find the correct 18% tip + extra for simply being amazing. Thank you for your help and patience and also thank you for making our night fun. Thank you!”

31.How did the waiter receive the group of teens?

- A .He tried to make then pay more.
- B .He served them like other waiters.
- C .He treated them as young children.
- D .He did his best to make them happy.

- B .Because they didn't know what a tip meant.
- C .Because they weren't pleased with the service.
- D .Because they thought the tip should be that much.

33.What made the teens write the letter?

- A .The tip they left for the waiter.
- B .The bill the restaurant received.
- C .The way the waiter served them.
- D .The fun they had at the restaurant.

34.What do restaurant waiters mind most in America?

- A .What kind of guests they receive.

- B .What dishes people usually order.

C

(2019 江苏盐城滨海一中月考)

If you have failed in the past to try to make big changes in life, try again now—one tiny step at a time.

Every year it’s the same. As December comes to an end, you think about the New Year and all the ways you want to improve your life. But as you start to write down your hopes for the New Year, you think about the last year. You excitedly write down all the changes you are going to make, but by the end of January those ideas get lost in your busy life.

Here’s a suggestion: Forget the too big, hard-to-achieve goals and just think about the small ones. “We often think that we have to do everything in big steps, even though it’s so hard for us to reach it.” said Robert Maurer, who recently wrote the book One Small Step Can Change Your Life. “What we try to do is to begin with such a small step that we can’t find any excuse not to do it.”

“Kaizen”, a Japanese word, is used to mean to change behavior and attitudes (态度). During World War II, American factory managers were able to increase productivity by trying small, continuous improvements instead of sudden changes. After the war, the idea was brought to a rebuilding (重建) Japan. It made Japan develop fast. The Japanese called it “kaizen”, which means “improvement”.

Maurer studied the idea and did some experiments with it. “Kaizen” could possibly help people succeed in doing everything.

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| A. fail to make big changes | B. lose their great ideas |

- D. how to find a small step without any excuse
38. The underlined "increase productivity" in the passage means "_____" in Chinese.
- A. 提高生产率 B. 增加成本 C. 增加出口量 D. 提高待遇
39. The writer of the passage suggests we should _____.
- A. make changes at the end of the year
- B. do few experiments with "kaizen"
- C. do things with hard-to-achieve goals
- D. take tiny steps to achieve big goals

Jane was on her way home at around 6 o'clock. It was getting dark. As she drove into her community, she noticed a man. She saw the man walking along the sidewalk next to some houses. He didn't live in any of those houses. She had seen this man a few times before. He looked like a criminal.

She drove by him. He looked at her car as she drove by. She continued driving and watched him in her rear view mirror (后视镜). She got to the corner and stopped. She continued to watch him walking in her direction. Suddenly, he turned left up a driveway (车道). A red SUV was parked in the driveway right next to the sidewalk. She saw him walk up to the driver's door and put his hand on the handle (把手). Then he returned to the sidewalk and went on to walk in her direction.

"What is that all about?" Jane wondered. Then she realized that he had tested the door to see if it was locked. "He is a criminal," she thought. "That's what he does. He just walks in our neighborhood looking for cars to break into."

She called the police and described the man. The police officer said he knew who the man was. The people in the community called two or three times this week to report him walking by. But the police couldn't arrest him for walking around unless they caught him with stolen things. "But he was testing that SUV door to see if it was unlocked," she said.
