With the development of society, people pay more attention to environmental protection. In order to find out people's attitude and ways of protecting the environment, 400 students in No. 5 High School were surveyed with the theme of "saving paper".

Almost everyone agrees that it is necessary to save paper. However, only more than half of them know that the country's forest resources (资源) are not enough. Even worse, nearly half pay little attention to the situation of China's forest resources. The following two diagrams are about ways to deal with used paper and reasons for saving paper.

Diagram1 Ways to deal with used paper

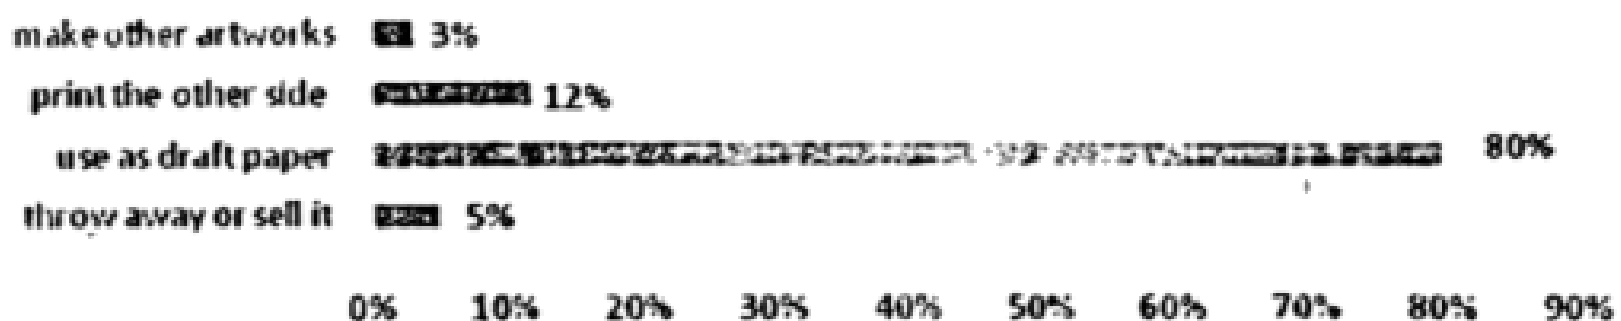

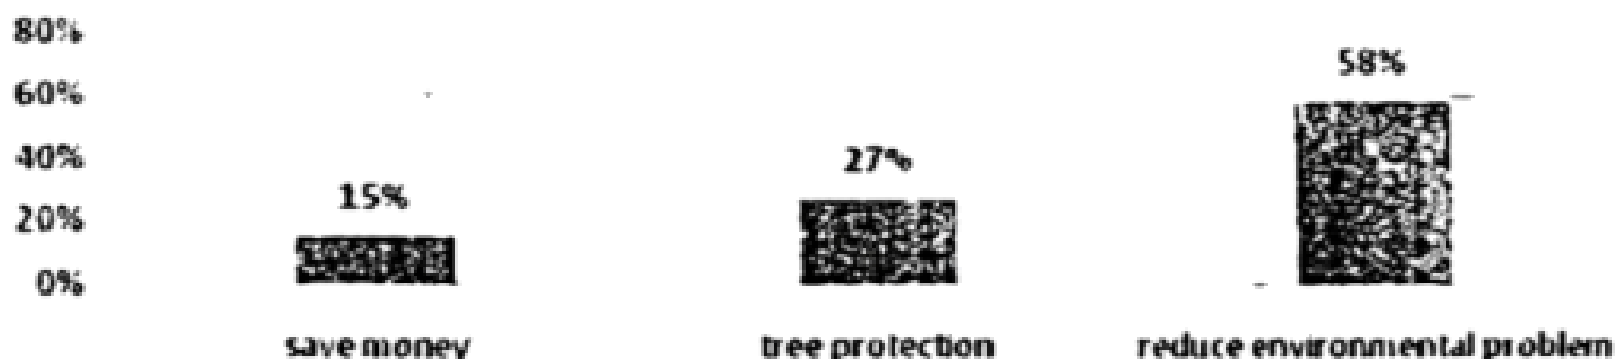

Diagram2 Reasons for saving paper

In conclusion, the forest resources in our country are facing big crisis (危机). Luckily, most of the people have realized that and have their proper ways to save paper. But we still need to strengthen the action. As long as we start from the little things, we can make a big difference.

What can you achieve in five days? Learn a dance? Read a book? Or go on a road trip? What about winning four gold medals? You may think it is impossible, but a teenage girl has done just that!

Last October, at the 2022 ISSF World Championships in Cairo, Egypt, Pang Yuqian won four gold medals in the 50-meter rifle (步枪) events in five days. It was her first international competition, but Pang, an 18-year-old high school student from Sichuan, made quite a debut (首次亮相).

It is widely known that a lot of things are required of a player in shooting sports, and one of them is concentration. “She is little, thin and quiet, but she will put all her attention on the rifle as long as she holds it in her hands.” Pang’s coach said. What’s more, she is strict with herself and often asks her coach for advice even though she is a natural for the sport. Before winning the four medals, she practiced really hard. Now, thanks to years of training, Pang is already a world-class shooter.

After winning the four gold medals, Pang kept telling her parents to keep a low profile (保持低调) and asked them not to post anything about her or her achievements on WeChat Moments, but her mom didn’t listen. She shared the story of her daughter online anyway, but who can blame (责怪) her? After all, not everyone can achieve in a lifetime what Pang has already achieved as a teenager.

Pang shot for the moon and got it. What a great role model to us! Come on, everyone, let’s make big plans and dream big dreams. Even if we miss the moon, we’ll still land among the stars!

根据短文内容，选择最佳答案。

41. What does the writer think of winning four gold medals in five days?

- A. Normal.      B. Unbelievable.      C. Easy.      D. Interesting.

42. Which is the right order of the following facts?

- ①Pang practiced hard before the competition.
②Pang won four gold medals in the 50-meter rifle events.
③Pang told her parents not to post anything about her on the Internet.
④Pang’s mom shared Pang’s achievements online.

- A. ②①③④      B. ①②③④      C. ①②④③      D. ②①④③

43. What does the underlined word “concentration” in Paragraph 3 mean in Chinese?

- A. 毅力      B. 坚持      C. 专注      D. 活力

44. Why did Pang's mom want to share Pang's story with others?

- A. Because she wanted to show off.
- B. Because she was proud of her daughter and wanted to share her happiness.
- C. Because she wanted her daughter to become better.
- D. Because she wanted others to praise her daughter.

45. Which is the best title of the passage?

- A. An Important Shooting Experience.      B. Four Gold Medals.

五、阅读判断

You can hardly pay no attention to hunger. Hunger has many different causes, according to Dr. Tello, from Harvard Medical School.

The first cause may be medical problems. "If a person always feels hungry and can't put on weight or even loses weight, he should go to the hospital. For people with Type 1 diabetes (糖尿病), their body isn't able to process sugar. They eat a lot but still lose weight and they feel terrible." Tello said.

If it isn't a medical cause, the problem could be in the head. It is reasonable to be hungry every three to five hours. However, you are able to eat often and a lot after watching food ads on TV or social media. Also, the more you eat, the larger your stomach gets. A person's state of mind can play a role, too. Research has shown that stress can increase the feeling of hunger. Pressure and worry can send people looking into the fridge when they are not truly hungry.

Another reason may be the lifestyle. Sometimes the reason why a person is always hungry is that he eats too little, exercise too much, or both.

So what are the solutions? First, reduce your time on watching food ads on TV and social media. In addition, say no to food if you are not really hungry. Finally, change your diet by eating more food high in fiber(纤维), protein(蛋白质) and healthy fats.

根据短文内容，判断句子正(T) 误(F)。

46. People with Type 1 diabetes eat a lot but still lose weight.

47. It is normal to be hungry every three to five hours.

48. The smaller your stomach is, the healthier you will be.

49. When people feel stressed out, they will probably eat less.

50. Three solutions are mentioned to deal with hunger.

六、阅读还原 5 选 5

Everyone likes polite people and being polite is very important. As the old saying goes, “Politeness costs nothing and gains everything.” To know how to be a polite person, one must know the answers to the following two questions.

What is politeness? 51 It is simply treating people the way you would want to be treated. Whenever you talk with others, please remember to be polite.

How to be polite? It is really easy. If you want to know the answer, think about the people you love dearly. How do they talk? What do they say that makes you feel good? 52

- Always say words like “thank you” and “please”. It is a good example of politeness and a way to speak politely to others. 53 It doesn’t matter whether the person helps you or not.

- Appreciation (欣赏) is an important part of politeness. Whenever someone does something nice for you, no matter how small, always be ready with a smile. 54

Do not do or say anything that might offend (冒犯) someone. Make sure that people feel comfortable around you. And choose your words carefully. What seems funny to you might hurt a lot of people.

- 55 We all have different opinions, and being polite means respecting everyone’s thoughts. Don’t pressure others into doing or saying something they would rather not.

Let’s be better human beings and always ask ourselves if we are being polite to others.

阅读短文，把 A~E 五个句子填入文中空缺处，使短文内容完整。

A. Don’t try to force your own opinions on others.

B. Politeness is a behavior that shows understanding of and care for other people’s feelings.

C. Just say those words to make your life easier.

D. It will make both the person and you feel good.

E. Here is some advice you can use to be polite.

七、阅读回答问题

The Little Stream Choir (《小溪流合唱团》) was started at a primary school in Dongcun, Jiangxi. Of the school's 282 students, 215 are left-behind children whose parents work hundreds of miles away and only come back once or twice a year.

Dongcun is surrounded (环绕) by green hills and natural caves (洞穴), with clear streams flowing (流淌) out of caves. That is how the choir got its name. "We hope that the children, like a running stream, will flow along the mountains in their hometown to big rivers and seas outside," said Zhong Linshan, head of the choir.

But the road to starting the choir was not easy. Until 2017, there were no full-time music teachers in the school. In May 2017, a pair-up project started between the school and Xinyu University. Under the project, the university would send student volunteers to the school twice a week to give music lessons.

Four months later, the children welcomed Zhong, their first full-time music teacher. When Zhong first came, she found that the children in the school knew little about music, and she had to teach them from the very beginning, "Do-Re-Mi." To keep the children interested in music, Zhong tried hard to make the training fun, and she also prepared some gifts for them.

Zhong's hard work finally paid off. The choir is getting more professional and has performed at the New Year music show of Xinyu University since 2018. What's more, the children are confident and brave after joining the choir. Six-grader Yan Jiabin is a member of the choir. Since she joined the choir in Grade 2, the once shy child has grown into a confident, sunny girl.

The Little Stream Choir makes us see the power of music. Best wishes to the choir and the children.

八、语法填空

阅读下面短文，在空白处填入适当的单词或括号内单词的正确形式。

In ancient China, when friends or relatives were separating, they would pick a willow twig (柳条) and give it to the person who was leaving. This was to express 61 (they) wishes for him to stay. In Chinese, the word for “willow” is pronounced the same 62 the word for “stay”.

Many Chinese poets liked writing about willows in their works. One of the 63 (famous) poems is A Farewell Song (《送元二使安西》) by Wang Wei. It reads,

No dust is raised on the road wet with morning rain.

The willows by the hotel look so fresh and green.

I invite you 64 (drink) a cup of wine again,

West of the Sunny Pass no more 65 (friend) will be seen.

Nowadays, willow twigs can also be seen in modern art. There was an amazing performance about willow twigs. 365 people 66 (hold) willow twigs in their hands on the green stages. At the same time, 67 old painting of weeping willows (垂柳) appeared on the LED screen. The setting of 365 people stood for 365 days, and the color green meant the return of spring. The performance 68 (praise) highly by the people. I was 69 (deep) attracted by traditional Chinese culture,” one of them said.

In short, giving a willow twig to a person is not saying goodbye 70 asking him to stay. This is the beauty of Chinese culture.
