If you do not use your arms or your legs for some time, they will become weak, and when you start using them again, they slowly become strong again. Everybody knows that. Yet many people do not seem to know that memory works in the same way.

When someone says that he has a good memory, he really means that he keeps his memory in practice by using it. When someone else says that his memory is poor, he really means that he does not give it enough chance to become strong.

If a friend says that his arms and legs are weak, we know that it is his own fault. But if he tells us that he has a poor memory, many of us think that his parents may be blamed, and few of us know that it is just his own fault (过错). Have you ever found that some people can't read or write but usually they have better memories? This is because they cannot read or write and when they have to remember things, they cannot write them down in a small notebook. As a result, they have to remember days, names, songs and stories, so their memory is being exercised the whole time.

So if you want to have a good memory, learn from the people: practice remembering things in a way as other people do.

The rules (规则, 常规) in American schools

Greetings

You needn't greet your teachers when you come into a very big class. If you are late for class, you may go into the classroom quietly. But you should say sorry to the teacher after class.

Answering questions

Don't talk when somebody else is speaking. If you have something to say, you have to wait. When someone is speaking, you shouldn't interrupt him or her. If you want to answer the teacher's questions, you may stand up and speak loudly. It's impolite to keep quiet when your teacher asks you questions. If you don't know the answers, you can say "I'm sorry".

Other interesting rules

Some American schools don't allow students to wear caps, sunglasses or too large trousers. And they can't bring any bananas to school. The school bags for the students are usually sheer (透明的), so teachers can find what's in it easily.

【小题 1】 If you are late for class in American schools, what should you do?

【小题 2】 Is it polite to talk when someone else is speaking?

【小题 3】 When students want to answer the teacher's questions, what should they do?

【小题 4】 In some American schools, students can't do any things. Give an example.

【小题 5】 Why are the students' bags sheer in some American school?
