三、完形填空。(本大题有10小题，每小题1分，共10分)

通读下面短文，掌握其大意，然后在每小题所给的四个选项中，选出一个最佳答案，并将答案写在题前括号内。

One afternoon, I went to pick up my mother from work. I got there a little early, so I stopped my car by a small park, and 46 her.

As I looked outside the car window, I saw a little boy running freely on the grass as his mother watched from a short distance. The boy had a big smile on his 47 as if he was just set free from a prison(監獄). Then the boy fell to the grass, got up, without looking back at his mother and ran as 48 as he could again. There was still a smile on his face, as if nothing happened just now.

At that moment, I thought to myself, “Why don’t most adults act this way?” Most adults, when they fall they would be so 49 that they would not try again if someone saw them fall. Or, because they fall, they would find a good 50 for themselves that they’re not fit for it. They would end up too afraid to try again for fear of failure.

However, with kids, when they fall down, they don't consider their falling down as a failure. Instead, they regard it as a 51 experience. They try again and again 52 they finally succeed. The answer must be that they have not connected "falling down" with the word "failure". As a 53, they are not discouraged in any way. Besides, they 54 think to themselves that it's quite okay to fall

In other words, they allow themselves to 55, so they remain energetic.

I was deeply impressed by the boy's persistence(坚持不懈)and the manner in which he did.

In 1901, Karl Landsteiner, an Austrian scientist, discovered that there are four types of blood. These four blood types were named A, B, AB and O. People have one of these four types. Blood type O is the most common around the world. Blood type A is the second most common, and type AB is the least common. If people with type A blood are or people with type B blood are given type A blood, they will probably die.

In 1927, a Japanese doctor, Furukawa Takeji, carried out research and came up with the idea that people with different blood types also had different personalities. He said that people with type A blood are usually calm and serious; people with type B blood are curious, cheerful and with type O blood are generous and trustworthy; while those with type AB blood are often caring, original and careful.

More recently, a doctor in the United States wrote a book that links blood types and what people eat. For example, his book suggests people with type O blood should eat more meat and less bread. A diet for people with type A blood includes

His book, Eat Right for Your Type, has been a hit with people who want to lose weight. However, Dr. Peter D'Adamo believes that eating food that matches a person's blood type can do more than help them lose weight. He thinks it will make the person healthier in other ways, too.
