Because of the phone, relationship between the kids and parents is getting worse and worse and the kids' schoolwork and health have also been influenced by the phone. To solve this problem, I want to invent a special smart phone to help these teenagers and parents.

The special phone can control the time children spent on the phone by turning off the application. For example, if a student spent more than 1 hour playing games, the game will end and can not be started in 24 hours. How does it work? You may ask. Well, this kind of phone has a special chip in it, which can tell whether the user of the phone is an adult or not. If the user is under 18, all the amusement applications can only work for an hour every day. By this way, the kids won't play phones too much, and they will spent more time on other healthier activities. At the same time, the parents don't need to worry about this problem and their relationship will be closer. Of course, this kind of phone does not cost too much.

Dear dairy,

There are many rules at my home. I know they are good for me and my home. But I don't agree with some of them. One of the rules I don't agree with is that I'm not allowed to have a mobile phone. My parents think that using it will get in the way of my studies, but I don't agree with them.

First, the mobile phone provides me with an easy and fast way of communication. If I have a mobile phone, I can make a call when I'm in dangerous situations. Second, the mobile phone can help me study. Now there are lots of educational apps on it that I can use. Third, I can use the mobile phone to listen to music, play games or watch movies. It's not good to spend all the time studying. I need to relax sometimes. For these reasons, I think I should be allowed to have a mobile phone. My parents can make rules about using it, for example, when and how long I can use it. I can do even better in my studies if I'm allowed to have a mobile phone.

I hope my parents will understand me.

Dear Li Yu,

I'm happy to receive your letter. Knowing that your parents don't support your basketball training, I'm worried about you. It's normal for them to stop you from training. After all, your schoolwork is the most important thing for you now. However, I have nothing against your training.

I agree that teenagers should be allowed to make their own decisions.

First of all, hobbies will not get in the way of schoolwork. Instead, they can make us full of energy and courage. What's more, we are serious enough to be responsible for ourselves.

I think you should let your parents know your own ideas and try to make them believe in you. You can have proper communications with your parents to express your opinions, so that they can consider your feelings seriously. Besides, there is no doubt that you are supposed to balance your training and schoolwork. Only in these ways can you solve your problems.

I hope things work out and everything will be better.
