3. If you think you are too shy and want to be a little bit braver, just try the following things.

Be open to others. Tell people you are shy. There is no need to hide it. When they get to know you are a shy kid, they will understand you better. This also helps you feel more comfortable in talks.

Try to smile more. When you smile , people think you are friendly and easy to talk with. Remember that other people have feelings, too; and most people will stay away from an angry-looking face.

Learn to be a good talker. If you find it hard to start a conversation, say something nice about people around you. Think about how great you feel when someone says something nice to you. Doesn’ t it make you want to keep talking to that oerson?

Get your attention elsewhere. Think more about ways to enjoy parties or games. Don' t waste time worrying about your look or whether people like you or not. You will become relaxed and find it' s not so hard to talk with others.

Take one small step at a time. Each time when you say "Hi!" or smile at someone, say to yourself "You can make it." Keep trying and one day you' ll never feel shy when you talk to others.

8. In Germany there are different kinds of high schools. Some prepare students for workers, others prepare them for college. All schools are great places for making friends and learning German.

Short days

Most high schools in Germany begin at about 8:00 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. This means your morning will be busy with classes. You will have time to do homework and take part in private(私人的) clubs after school.

Formal setting

In Germany, teachers and students' relationship is more formal than you might be used to. Teachers are respected and students must use the formal "Sie(德语: 您)" when talking to teachers.

Getting to school

Most students take public transport to school or ride a bicycle. Some areas have school buses. It is not common for parents to drive students to school.

Private clubs

In many countries, schools offer official sports and after-school activities. This is less common in Germany. After-school activities are usually organized through private clubs. There are clubs for things like soccer, dance, chess, theatre and almost everything else. Once you are in Germany, ask around at school and talk to other students to find out what private clubs are in your area and meet your interests.

Different states, different schools

Each of Germany's 16 states has its own slightly different school systems. The school system in Brandenburg will be a little different from the system in Bavaria for example. Where you live, your knowledge level and your age will decide what school you can attend.

For high school students in Germany, Which is not the common transport to school?

10. Robots have come a long way since 15th century. We' ve got robots to build cars, carry heavy things, work in dangerous places and explore planets. But things haven' t stopped there.

In 1986, Honda made a robot called ASIMO. And now, it has been developed greatly. Standing at 130cm and weighing 54kg. ASIMO is very much like a small astronaut wearing a bag on the back. And he can walk, flight, climb and run fast. Isn' t it wonderful?

The world' s first robot teacher is Saya. With her human-like face, she can show expressions like happiness, surprise, sadness, dislike, fear and she can even smile or show anger at students, which look much like a real teacher' s. To do this, her rubber skin is pulled from the back with motors inside. And her eyes and mouth have wires(电线) too. She can also say some simple words like “hello” or “thank you” .

In the UK, the development of robots is exciting. The mini-robots will send food, clean floors, collect and throw away waste. These robots can open doors by themselves and stop if anything or anyone is in the way.

These mini-robots are very useful for controlling infection(传染). Usually clean and dirty work is done by the same person, but here, you' ll have robots that do” dirty work” , like collecting dirty sheets, or taking away hospital waste; and you' ll have robots that do” clean work” , like bringing meals or clean sheets to patients. The robots have separate work so there' s no way for infection, which is great. But of course, robots would not take the piece of humans, but would free up more time for nurses to be with patients.

But if this is what it' s like in 2011, what' s it going to be like to 2021?

In the following, which is ASIMO' s behavior?

- A. Smiling at people, saying “hello” .
- B. Sending food or opening doors by himself
- C. Fighting, climbing or running fast
- D. Collecting waste for patients

What makes Saya look real?

- A. Her face and rich expressions
- B. Her clothes and shoes

- C. Her walking and running speed D. Her rich knowledge

Which of the following is true according to the passage?

- A. Robots have come a long way since 1986.
B. The first robot teacher was made by Honda.
C. Saya looks like a small astronaut.
D. If anyone or anything is in the way, mini-robots will stop.

The main idea of Paragraph 5 is that _____.

- A. nurses would have more free time with patients
B. robots would not take the place of humans
C. dirty and clean work is always done by the same person
D. mini-robots are useful for controlling infection
