Our volunteer activity

Last Sunday, our school had a volunteer activity in the City Library. More than 40 students from different classes joined in it. We all wore school uniforms. At 8:00 am, we left for the library by school bus. We arrived at the City Library about 9:00 am and the people there gave us a warm welcome. In the library, some students cleaned bookcases and tables, some put the books and magazines in order. Others helped some readers to find what they wanted from the bookcases.

This activity was meaningful. After it, we were tired but all felt happy.

Emma has just finished traveling alone in Europe. Are you interested in her journey? Let's read some of her travel diaries.

June 12 at 19:35--New York I am so excited. Also a little nervous! I am off on a journey on my own. Yes! Alone! I am feeling so brave and can't wait to start. I'm going to Europe to see some cities. I really want to visit. I'm going to travel by train in Europe.

June 15 at 15.30--Salzburg Now I am in Salzburg, Austria. The hills of Austria are a great place to relax. The Sound of Music was filmed around this area. I can enjoy the view of the mountain and the river from my hotel window.

June 17 at 8:15--Amsterdam The train ride to Amsterdam was a long one. It gave me time to write some postcards to send back home. Amsterdam is a fun of friendly locals and tourists. I spent the whole day visiting the art museums here. The museums are historic and filled with beautiful art.

June 19 at 21:20--Copenhagen Traveling alone, I have been very careful to keep safe. Luckily, I am in Copenhagen, Denmark, and I am told that it is one of the safest places in the world. Anderson, a famous writer of children's books, was born in this city. I bought two of his fairy tale books.

If you have no special plans for your holidays, why not spend your time helping others

People say the young people today often think only of themselves. It's not true at all. More and more people in the USA volunteer to spend their school holidays working for others. And they don't do it for money.

Here are some of their stories.

Alice Hamilton, 17

I'm going to help the Forest Centre build new hiking paths(道路) in the mountains with my best friend Tony Brown. It's going to be terrific. I'll spend the whole summer living in the tent and breathing the clean mountain air. I'm going to sleep under the stars. It'll be a nice sport, and I'll be able to do something good at the same time.

Jason Moore, 18

This summer I'm going to volunteer with Special House Program. They build good low-cost(低成本) houses and sell them to families that are not very rich. They'll teach me what to do. So I'll help people and also have a chance to learn how to build houses.

Trish Anderson, 16

I'm going to teach kids who have trouble in reading. I am going to work for a program called Reading For Life. Every day, I'm going to help children choose and read books that they like. I want to be a teacher and I love children and reading, so this is going to be a great experience for me.

When you travel to a foreign country, there is one important thing. You need to know its ways of greetings.

In the USA, men usually shake hands in greeting, but a smile and a “hello” will do just fine.

In England, people often say “hello” in greeting. They usually shake hands when they meet for the first time without standing too close. Friends often kiss on the face in greeting.

In France (法国), men, women and children shake hands with their friends and often kiss them on both cheeks (脸颊) for meeting and leaving.

In India, close men friends kiss both faces. They shake hands with the right hand because in their culture, only the right hand is clean. They can't ask to shake hands with women.

In China, people usually nod (点头) their heads and smile, or shake hands for the first-time greeting.

Although these countries have something in common in greetings, you should still think carefully and know well about the greetings before you come to a new country.
