

Unit 7 Know Our World Lesson

Ringling Up or Call?

objectives

- To understand the dialogue
- To use the words correctly:

ring up

go up

in different ways

Review

Vocabulary

British	adj. 不列颠的；英国的；英国人的；英国英语的 n. (总称)英国人；英国英语
washroom	n. 盥洗室
bathroom	n. 浴室；盥洗室
spell	v. 拼写
pronunciation	n. 发音；读法

grammar

n. 语法 translate

v. 翻译

American

adj. 美国的

n. 美国人

Australian

adj. 澳大利亚(人)的

n. 澳大利亚人 pronounce

v. 发音; 读法

ring up

给.....打电话

go up

上升; 升起

in different ways

用不同的方式或方法

Think about it!

What are some of the differences in spoken Chinese in different parts of China?

What are some of the differences in spoken English?

whole class activity

Listen
just listen

GRADO RSI

A white rectangular box containing a single black speaker on the left, the word "Listen" in a large, bold, blue font, the phrase "just listen" in a smaller, blue font below it, and the text "GRADO RSI" in a light blue font at the bottom.

Listen and answer.

What does “ring up” mean?

Call someone on the phone.

How many different kinds of English are there in the world?

Four. They are American English, British English, Australian English and even African English.

What is Brian asked to do?

He is asked to write a report on Asia.

True or false

Brian is from the U.S.

Brian wants to ring up his Chinese friend.

The pronunciation and the grammar are the same between British English and American English.

Listen to the dialogue and choose the correct words.

A: Hello Tina! I don't know how to (express/say/show) myself well. Any advice?

B: Sure. Why not talk with others in public? I think that might help.

A: I know, but sometimes it's hard for me to (pronounce/spell/say) the words and sentences correctly. Instead, I need to (pronounce/spell/write) them, which makes me feel embarrassed.

B: Oh! That's the problem. Then try to improve your spoken English first.

A: Good idea! I'll (phone/ring up/ask for) my foreign teacher to make a plan.

Thanks!

Reading

What differences between British English and American English are mentioned in the lesson?

- 1. In British English, people “ring up” someone, while in American English, people “call” someone.
- 2. British people use the “toilet”, while Americans go to the “washroom” or “bathroom”.
- 3. British people say “autumn”, while Americans say “fall”.

Work in groups. Talk about the differences between British English and American English and then fill in the table.

	British English	American English
Vocabulary	autumn, toilet, biscuit, booking lorry,	fall, washroom, cracker, reservation truck,
Spelling	colour, aeroplane, cheque, cock	color, airplane, check, rooster
Expression	ring up someone, angry with	call someone on the phone, angry at Others

Let's practice

Read the dialogue, then act out the dialogue with your partner.

Language Points

以上内容仅为本文档的试下载部分，为可阅读页数的一半内容。如要下载或阅读全文，请访问：<https://d.book118.com/445010122002011204>