

Shopping

Bring an empty bag with you to Cape Town because chances are that you'll be leaving laden with local booty. The city's irresistible range of products – from modern African beadwork to fine wines – is guaranteed to turn the most consumer-averse visitor into a shopaholic.

Local design and fashion are really taking off (see p18), so if you want to give your wardrobe or home that contemporary African look, Cape Town is the place to go shopping. The city also acts as a clearing house for antiques and curios from all over Africa and you'll find some amazing pieces here – as well as plenty of fakes! If you're looking for simple gifts but don't want tacky touristy stuff (of which there's also plenty), go for township-produced crafts made from recycled bottles, cans and old food labels; you'll often be helping people who are struggling with poverty and HIV/AIDS. For other ideas, see below.

For one-stop shopping you still can't beat the mega malls such as the Waterfront's Victoria Wharf (Map pp252–3; %021-408 7600; a; Waterfront; h 9am–9pm), Carol Walk (Map pp244–5; %0860 101 165; ; Century Blvd, Century City, Milnerton; h 9am–9pm), or Cavendish Square (Map pp246–7; %021-671 8042; dish.co.za; Cavendish St, Claremont; h 9am–6pm Mon–Thu, 9am–9pm Fri, 9am–6pm Sat, 10am–4pm Sun), all hugely popular for their range of shops, long opening hours and cheap or free parking. The increase in residential units in the City Bowl also means there's an increasingly lively shopping scene there; watch out for developments around the new Rhodes Mandela Place (Map pp248–9). And don't miss out on sampling one of Cape Town's several lively craft and flea markets (see the boxed text, p162).

Opening Hours

Most shops, particularly those in the City Bowl area, open from 8.30am to 5pm Monday to Friday and 8.30am to 1pm Saturday. If opening hours are not given in the listings in this chapter you can assume these hours apply. Shopping centres keep longer hours and are often open daily.

Consumer Taxes

South Africa has a value-added tax (VAT) of 14%. Foreign visitors can reclaim some of their VAT expenses on departure. For details, see p218.

Bargaining

When buying handicrafts from street hawkers and at some market stalls, bargaining is expected but isn't the sophisticated game that is often played in Asia. Don't press too hard.

TOP FIVE BEST BUYS

There are some brilliant original designer goods on sale in the Mother City. If we had to choose only five to take home, the following would be on our shopping list:

- Heath Nash lampshades (p168) – Nash's Flowerball and Curl lampshades elevate recycled plastic to an art level. Also check out his wirework Soccerbowls and Life is Beautiful Here coat rack.
- Imagenius baby booties (p162) – if only these adorably cute dyed-buckskin baby booties came in adult sizes!
- Monkeybiz beadwork – we defy you to leave Cape Town without one of Monkeybiz' colourful dolls, animals or placemats. Hand over your credit card at the Bo-Kaap shop (p162) or at Carrol Boyes (p166) at the Waterfront.
- Nguni Cows from Streetwires (p163) – more brilliant beadwork in these richly patterned cow sculptures designed by Elias Kahari and Michaela Howse.
- Philippa Green bracelet (p165) – the embroidered Perspex cuffs of this young jewellery designer are seen on the smartest of Capetonian wrists. Also on sale at Monkeybiz (p162) and Africa Nova (p163).

CITY CENTRE CITY BOWL & BO-KAAP

Pedestrianised St George's Mall, thronged with stalls selling art and fashion, is always an interesting browse. Adderley St, once Cape Town's principal shopping strip, is coming back to life, while the southern end of Long St is the place to head for second-hand books, antiques and streetwear boutiques. There are plenty of interesting galleries (see the boxed text, p164) to explore in the City Bowl. The whole area is best explored during the week though; it's dead from Saturday afternoon to Monday morning.

There is also another outlet in the City Bowl (Map pp248-9; 223 Long St), and the company runs the bargain bead store KgB (Map pp248-9; cnr Bree & Dorp Sts). Check the website for details of the regular beading classes (from R100).

BEINKINSTADT Map pp248-9 Judaica
%021-461 2431; 38 Canterbury St, City Bowl;

h 9am-5pm Mon-Fri
Bordering the old District Six, this marvelous Judaica emporium is run by Michael and Fay Padowich, the third generation of original owners. Inside and out, hardly anything seems to have changed since it opened in 1903. Good souvenirs include CDs of Jewish music from South Africa, and locally made challah covers and yarmulkes.

CLARKE'S Map pp248-9 Books

You won't miss this yellow building painted with red monkeys! Equally colourful beadwork products are found inside, all made by township women. The shop also stocks funky jewellery by Philippa Green and Ida-Elsje (see p165) and gifts by other quirky Capetonian designers. Profits from the beadwork support the Monkeybiz Wellness Clinic for HIV/AIDS-affected women held upstairs here every Friday, the same day women artists pack the street outside the head office (Map pp248-9; 43 Rose St; Bo-Kaap) to sell their beadwork - it's a very lively scene. You'll also find Monkeybiz products for sale at Carrol Boyes (p166) at the Waterfront.

Wola Nani, Xhosa (isiXhosa) for 'We Embrace and Develop Each Other', is an NGO that addresses the needs of those infected with HIV and AIDS. You'll find its label-covered picture frames and papier-mâché bowls, as well as other products, on sale here at its head office, and at many other Cape Town craft shops.

WATERKANT

The shopping complex Cape Quarter (Map pp248-9; 72 Waterkant St) remains a huge hit with both locals and visitors alike - you'll find the deli-café Andiamo (p127) here, as well as furniture, jewellery and homewares stores. There's also a branch of the eclectic interior-design store Cape to Cairo (p170), opposite, on Waterkant St.

AFRICA NOVA Map pp248-9 Arts & Crafts
%021-425 5123; Cape Quarter, 72 Waterkant St, Waterkant; H 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat & Sun
One of the most stylish and desirable collections of contemporary African textiles, arts and crafts. You'll find potato-print fabrics made by women in Hout Bay, Karin Dando's mosaic trophy heads, Jordaan's handmade felt rock cushions (which look like giant pebbles), and a wonderful range of ceramics and jewellery.

BIG BLUE Map pp248-9 Clothing
%021-425 1179;

A good boutique for picking up some fun clubbing gear or beachwear by South African designers, including Jo Soap, Karen Frazer, Amanda Laird Cherry, Cuba Vera and Gottalotalove. There's also a branch in Cavendish Square (Map pp246-7; Cavendish St, Claremont).

TOP FIVE MARKETS

You'll have fun hunting through Cape Town's many craft markets for the authentic, quality items amid the piles of cheap tourist-trade stuff. The Market at Grand Parade (Map pp248-9) on Wednesday and Saturday doesn't sell much of interest to visitors, but it's certainly lively, with people scrambling for bargains, mainly clothing.

Green Point Market (Map pp252-3; Green Point Stadium, Western Blvd, Green Point; H 8.30am-6pm Sun) Held in the main parking lot in front of the stadium, this craft market is one of the best places to hunt for inexpensive African art, fabrics and clothes.

Greenmarket Square (Map pp248-9; cnr Shortmarket & Berg Sts, City Bowl; H 9am-4pm Mon-Sat) Masks, jewellery, bargain CDs, pottery and the satirical, anticorporate T-shirts of Laugh It Off are just some of the finds at this market, held in cobbled Greenmarket Sq.

Hout Bay Craft Market (Map p258; %021-790 3474; Baviaanskloof Rd, Hout Bay; H 10am-5pm Sun) Held on the village green, this is a great alternative to Green Point Market, offering lots of great crafts made by local people, including the paper products of Iziko lo Lwazi (p168).

Kirstenbosch Craft Market (Map pp244-5; %021-671 5468; cnr Kirstenbosch & Rhodes Drs, Newlands; H 9am-5pm last Sun of month) Proceeds from this craft market go to the development fund for Kirstenbosch Botanical Gardens. Mr Mather's handmade wooden toys are worth looking out for.

Milnerton Flea Market (Map pp244-5; %021-550 1383; Racecourse Rd, Milnerton; H 7am-3pm Sat & Sun) Hunt for genuine antiques at bargain prices at this car-boot sale in an industrial corner of Cape Town. With patience and luck you'll find collectable china, glass and furnishings.

GALLERY CRAWL

There're some very talented artists at work in Cape Town (see p32) and a day spent exploring the following centrally located galleries is a rewarding experience. Keep an eye out in the local press for exhibition openings, when it's possible to drop by and mingle with the art set over drinks and nibbles. The annually updated Arts & Crafts Cape Town Map, available free at Cape Town Tourism offices (p219), is a useful resource. Unless otherwise mentioned, opening hours are 10am to 5pm Monday to Friday and 10am to 3pm Saturday.

34 Long (Map pp248-9; %021-426 4594; 34 Long St, City Bowl; h 9am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat) New gallery space hosting interesting exhibitions: a recent one compared the work of cutting-edge and established South African artists, such as Matthew Hindley and William Kentridge, with those from China and Japan.

AVA Gallery (Map pp248-9; %021-424 7436; 35 Church St, City Bowl) Exhibition space for the nonprofit Association for Visual Arts (AVA), which shows some very interesting work by local artists. Browse the room at the front for a selection from former exhibitions.

Bell-Roberts Art Gallery (Map pp248-9; %021-422 1100; 89 Bree St, City Bowl) A move to larger, light-filled premises has allowed this gallery and art-book publisher wider scope for its exhibitions. Well worth a browse to discover who's on the up in the Cape Town art world.

Everard Read (Map pp252-3; %021-418 4527; 3 Portsworld Rd, Waterfront; petown.co.za; h 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat) Very classy gallery showcasing the best of contemporary South African art, including works by John Meyer and Velaphi Mzimba.

João Ferreira Gallery (Map pp248-9; %021-423 5402; 80 Hout Lane, City Bowl; h 10am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat) One of the city's top galleries representing many established and up-and-coming artists.

Michael Stevenson Gallery (Map pp248-9; %021-421 2575; 11 Hope St, City Bowl; m.com; Hill House, De Smidt St, Waterkant) One of the city's best exhibition spaces where you'll find works by Hilton Neil, Bernie Searle and Brett Murray, as well as many others. The catalogues, art books and posters are a good buy, if you can't afford the art itself.

Photographers Gallery (Map pp248-9; %021-422 2762; 63 Shortmarket St, City Bowl; rary.co.za; h 10am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-1pm Sat) As well as representing the fine work of many top South African photographers, this gallery shows pieces by artists Lien Botha and Conrad Botes (see the boxed text, p33).

What If The World (Map pp248-9; %021-461 2573; 11 Hope St, City Bowl; h 10am-6pm Mon-Sat) Edgy little gallery and design collective that has exhibitions by emerging artists and quirky events, including an annual T-shirt-design festival. Check out the Neighbour Goods event, a creative market and studio sale usually held for 24 hours on the last Monday of the month.

ATLANTIC COAST

Not everywhere along the coast is a shopping paradise; Sea Point and Camps Bay, for example, have few unique stores. However, expect the already-heavy crowds at mega shopping complexes, such as the Waterfront and Canal Walk, to swell at the weekends.

The Waterfront's main mall is Victoria Wharf (Map pp252-3; %021-408 7600; front.co.za; Waterfront; h 9am-9pm), and it's where you'll find all the big names of South African retail. In Green Point, the new development Portside (Map pp252-3; Main Rd) is worth checking out.

You won't miss this yellow building painted with red monkeys! Equally colourful beadwork products are found inside, all made by township women. The shop also stocks funky jewellery by Philippa Green and Ida-Elsje (see p165) and gifts by other quirky Capetonian designers. Profits from the beadwork support the Monkeybiz Wellness Clinic for HIV/AIDS-affected women held upstairs

TOP FIVE MARKETS

You'll have fun hunting through Cape Town's many craft markets for the authentic, quality items amid the piles of cheap tourist-trade stuff. The Market at Grand Parade (Map pp248-9) on Wednesday and Saturday doesn't sell much of interest to visitors, but it's certainly lively, with people scrambling for bargains, mainly clothing.

Green Point Market (Map pp252-3; Green Point Stadium, Western Blvd, Green Point; ☎ 8.30am-6pm Sun) Held in the main parking lot in front of the stadium, this craft market is one of the best places to hunt for inexpensive African art, fabrics and clothes.

Greenmarket Square (Map pp248-9; cnr Shortmarket & Berg Sts, City Bowl; ☎ 9am-4pm Mon-Sat) Masks, jewellery, bargain CDs, pottery and the satirical, anticorporate T-shirts of Laugh It Off are just some of the finds at this market, held in cobble Greenmarket Sq.

Hout Bay Craft Market (Map p258; ☎ 021-790 3474; Baviaanskloof Rd, Hout Bay; ☎ 10am-5pm Sun) Held on the village green, this is a great alternative to Green Point Market, offering lots of great crafts made by local people, including the paper products of Iziko lo Lwazi (p168).

Kirstenbosch Craft Market (Map pp244-5; ☎ 021-671 5468; cnr Kirstenbosch & Rhodes Drs, Newlands; ☎ 9am-5pm last Sun of month) Proceeds from this craft market go to the development fund for Kirstenbosch Botanical Gardens. Mr Mather's handmade wooden toys are worth looking out for.

Milnerton Flea Market (Map pp244-5; ☎ 021-550 1383; Racecourse Rd, Milnerton; ☎ 7am-3pm Sat & Sun) Hunt for genuine antiques at bargain prices at this car-boot sale in an industrial corner of Cape Town. With patience and luck you'll find collectable china, glass and furnishings.

here every Friday, the same day women artists pack the street outside the head office (Map pp248-9; 43 Rose St; Bo-Kaap) to sell their beadwork – it's a very lively scene. You'll also find Monkeybiz products for sale at Carol Boyes (p166) at the Waterfront.

PAN AFRICAN MARKET

You'll find its label-covered picture frames and papier-mâché bowls, as well as other products, on sale here at its head office, and at many other Cape Town craft shops.

WATERKANT

The shopping complex Cape Quarter (Map pp248-9; 72 Waterkant St) remains a huge hit with both locals and visitors alike – you'll find the deli-café Andiamo (p127) here, as well as furniture, jewellery and homewares stores. There's also a branch of the eclectic interior-design store Cape to Cairo (p170), opposite, on Waterkant St.

With some 450 shops, 50-odd restaurants and 18 cinema screens you'd be a fool to argue with its claim of being the largest mall in Africa. The food court is so big that acrobatics shows are often held over the diners. Drive here along the N1, or check the website for details of a shuttle bus service from the Waterfront and the City Bowl.

GALLERY CRAWL

There're some very talented artists at work in Cape Town (see p32) and a day spent exploring the following centrally located galleries is a rewarding experience. Keep an eye out in the local press for exhibition openings, when it's possible to drop by and mingle with the art set over drinks and nibbles. The annually updated Arts & Crafts Cape Town Map, available free at Cape Town Tourism offices (p219), is a useful resource. Unless otherwise mentioned, opening hours are 10am to 5pm Monday to Friday and 10am to 3pm Saturday.

34 Long (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-426 4594; 34 Long St, City Bowl; ☎ 9am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat) New gallery space hosting interesting exhibitions: a recent one compared the work of cutting-edge and established South African artists, such as Matthew Hindley and William Kentridge, with those from China and Japan.

AVA Gallery (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-424 7436; 35 Church St, City Bowl) Exhibition space for the nonprofit Association for Visual Arts (AVA), which shows some very interesting work by local artists. Browse the room at the front for a selection from former exhibitions.

Bell-Roberts Art Gallery (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-422 1100; 89 Bree St, City Bowl) A move to larger, light-filled premises has allowed this gallery and art-book publisher wider scope for its exhibitions. Well worth a browse to discover who's on the up in the Cape Town art world.

Everard Read (Map pp252-3; ☎ 021-418 4527; 3 Portwood Rd, Waterfront; ☎ 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat) Very classy gallery showcasing the best of contemporary South African art, including works by John Meyer and Velaphi Mzimba.

João Ferreira Gallery (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-423 5402; 80 Hout Lane, City Bowl; ☎ 10am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat) One of the city's top galleries representing many established and up-and-coming artists.

Michael Stevenson Gallery (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-421 2575; Hill House, De Smidt St, Waterkant) One of the city's best exhibition spaces where you'll find works by Hilton Neil, Bernie Searle and Brett Murray, as well as many others. The catalogues, art books and posters are a good buy, if you can't afford the art itself.

Photographers Gallery (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-422 2762; 63 Shortmarket St, City Bowl; ☎ 10am-5pm Tue-Fri, 10am-1pm Sat) As well as representing the fine work of many top South African photographers, this gallery shows pieces by artists Lien Botha and Conrad Botes (see the boxed text, p33).

What If The World (Map pp248-9; ☎ 021-461 2573; 11 Hope St, City Bowl; ☎ 10am-6pm Mon-Sat) Edgy little gallery and design collective that has exhibitions by emerging artists and quirky events, including an annual T-shirt-design festival. Check out the Neighbour Goods event, a creative market and studio sale usually held for 24 hours on the last Monday of the month.

YOUNG DESIGNERS EMPORIUM Clothing & Accessories
 Map pp246-7
 %021-683 6177; Shop F50, Cavendish Square, Cavendish St, Claremont
 It's a bit of a jumble, but you'll most likely find something groovy to suit at YDE among the street clothes and accessories for both sexes by new South African designers.

FALSE BAY & SOUTHERN PENINSULA

You could spend all day browsing the antique shops and galleries of Kalk Bay's Main Rd. Simon's Town's St George's St is also a fruitful shopping strip, especially if you're into naval memorabilia, available by the bucket load at the antique shops here. The southern peninsula's main shopping centre is Longbeach Mall (Map pp244-5; %021-785 5955; Sunnysdale Rd, Sun Valley; H 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8.30am-4pm Sat & Sun), between Noordhoek and Kommetjie, where you'll find all the usual supermarkets and a multiplex cinema.

ARTVARK Map p257 Arts & Crafts
 %021-788 5584; 48 Main Rd, Kalk Bay; H 10am-6pm
 This store stocks a wide range of interesting arts and crafts by local artists, including paintings, pottery and jewellery. It also sells goods from India and Central America.

design combinations with modern fabrics and embellishments make them fun and contemporary. The clothes are mainly for women, but there are also some surprisingly groovy, beaded kaftan-style garments for men.

TRAVELLERS BOOKSHOP Books
Map pp252-3
☎ 021-425 6880; Victoria Wharf, Waterfront;
☎ 9am-9.30pm

Cape Town's only dedicated travel bookshop stocks all the practical reading material you might need for your travels in Africa and further afield. It also has a good range of general books on Cape Town and South Africa.

ULTRA LIQUORS Map pp252-3 Wine
☎ 021-434 4838; 122 Main Rd, Green Point;
☎ 9am-6pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6.30pm Fri,
8.30am-5pm Sat
Pile 'em high, sell 'em cheap is the deal at this liquor warehouse chain – don't expect much in the way of expert advice, but the range is wide and the prices can seldom be beat, even at the cellar door.

VAUGHAN JOHNSON'S WINE & CIGAR SHOP Map pp252-3 Wine
☎ 021-419 2121; com; Dock
Rd, Waterfront; ☎ 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm

Selling practically every South African wine you could wish to buy (plus a few more from other countries), it's open, unlike most wine sellers, on Sunday.

WALLFLOWER Interior Design & Gifts
Map pp252-3
☎ 021-434 8265; 1st fl, Portside, Main Rd, Green
Point; ☎ 9am-8pm
Follow the trail of rose petals up the stairs to this interior-design boutique, which stocks a fine selection of gifts. Choose from handmade candles, body products (which you can test) and delicate ceramics by the likes of Lisa Firer and Heather Mills, whose studio you can visit at Imhoff Farm (p109).

WATERFRONT CRAFT MARKET Arts & Crafts
Map pp252-3
☎ 021-408 7842; Dock Rd, Waterfront;
☎ 9.30am-6pm
Also known as the Blue Shed, this eclectic arts-and-crafts market, between Two Oceans Aquarium and CD Wherehouse, harbours some great buys. Search out Waterfront Music (☎ 021-438 1125; .com), which makes and sells the all-electric township 'blik' guitars made from oil cans, wood and fishing wire (R1600 to R3200).

BEACHES & SUBURBS Shopping Centre
CANAL WALK Map pp244-5
☎ 0860 101 165; ; Century
Blvd, Century City, Milnerton; ☎ 9am-9pm
With some 450 shops, 50-odd restaurants and 18 cinema screens you'd be a fool to argue with its claim of being the largest mall in Africa. The food court is so big that acrobatics shows are often held over the diners. Drive here along the N1, or check the website for details of a shuttle bus service from the Waterfront and the City Bowl.
