Once there was a happy monkey living in the forest. One day he came into a house. He saw a bowl of the most beautiful apples there. So he took one in each hand and ran back into the forest.

He smelled the apples but smelled nothing. He tried to eat them, but hurt his teeth. They were made of wood, but they were beautiful. When other monkeys saw them, he held them even more tightly. He was really interested in his wooden apples. He put them into his hands and enjoyed them in the sun. He loved them too much to notice his hunger at first.

A fruit tree reminded him that he was hungry, but he kept on enjoying the wonderful apples in his hands. He couldn't bear (忍受) to put the wooden apples down. So he kept busy and couldn't relax himself at all. In this way, he walked and walked in the forest only to enjoy his wooden apples.

The apples became heavier, and the poor little monkey thought about leaving them behind. He was tired and hungry and he couldn't climb trees or collect fruits with hands full. What if he just let them go?

Letting such good things go seemed crazy, but what could he do? He was so tired. Seeing the next fruit tree and smelling its fruits were enough.

Finally he gave up the wooden apples and reached up for his meal. He was happy again.

40. Why did the apples hurt his teeth when the monkey ate them?

Cassy made a plan for her and Emmeline. No one wanted to go to the attic (阁楼) in Legree's house because everyone thought it was full of ghosts and Legree was afraid of ghosts. Cassy's room was under it. One day, Cassy moved all her furniture to a room very far from it. When Legree asked why, she replied, "I can't sleep. There were noises in the attic, every night, from midnight until the morning. "

"Noises in the attic?" said Legree, worried, "Who is up there?"

"I don't know," said Cassy and she went to her room.

Then she put things in the attic that made strange noises when the wind blew. The slaves heard them and started talking about ghosts. Legree became scared of passing near the stairs to the attic.

Then one night Cassy and Emmeline ran away. They stayed near the house and waited. When Legree left to look for them with his slaves and dogs, Cassy and Emmeline went into the attic.

Legree was angry when he came back and he was sure that Tom knew something.

"Tom," said Legree, "tell me where those two are, or I will kill you. Speak!"

"I have nothing to say," said Tom.

"Are you telling me that you don't know?"

"I know, Master, but I can't tell you. "

Legree hit Tom and kicked him again and again, until he thought Tom was dead. Then he left. But Tom was not dead.

Cassy and Emmeline stayed in the attic for days, until Legree stopped looking for them. Then one night they escaped again and nobody followed them. They were free.

Two days later, a young man arrived. He was George Shelby. When he received the letter from Miss Ophelia, he went looking for Tom to buy him back, but it took a long time to find him.

Legree took George to see Tom. Tom was lying on the floor, waiting to die. When George saw him, he felt sick.

"Uncle Tom, my poor, poor friend!"

Tom opened his eyes. "Master George! You remembered me! It's going well. " said Tom and then he closed his eyes forever.

When George turned, Legree was standing behind him. "Who cares about a dead slave!" said Legree. George hit Legree so hard that he fell to the ground. Then 44.

Have you ever paid for educational podcasts(教育播客) or live videos? Ask some people and most of them will say yes. "Pay-for-knowledge" has been more and more popular these years. The contents of these "pay-for-knowledge" products are from language learning to gardening or baby-caring. Everything you think of can be found online at this moment. "Pay-for-knowledge" is on the rise.

Why is "Pay-for-knowledge" industry developing so fast? First, its development is based on the Internet. With a fast network and a smartphone, anyone who has passed the identity(身份) check can be an online teacher, and anyone with an online account(账户) can buy "Pay-for-knowledge" products. Second, people are afraid to miss any information. On one hand, people hope for more useful information. On the other hand, such information is usually at the hands of experts(专家) who serve famous companies and universities. Moreover, the need to learn new skills in today's job market also pushes people to learn on such educational podcasts.

The industry of "Pay-for-knowledge" has proved to be lucrative. It promises possibilities of changing information into money. It is good for the development of our country and it can help sellers make lots of money. Besides, buyers can enjoy self-growth from it. What's more, this is a reflection(反映) of respect for knowledge and talents.

However, the fast rise of "Pay-for-knowledge" has a few problems. For one thing, the market is full of eye-catching words such as "How to be an Industry's Expert in 5 Hours" and "15 Classes to Be a Master of Appreciating(欣赏) Classical Music", which sound like if you pay for it, you are sure to succeed. For another, a large number of customers buy them just for showing off. In fact, those who have really had self-growth after buying online courses may be the kind of people who need them least. In other words, with or without these courses, they can make it anyway because they are those who have the ability to learn by themselves.

In general, the best is the one that suits you most. “Pay-for-knowledge” may be used as a good start for self-growth. Be careful! Otherwise, your dream of success may not come true.

48. Which is NOT the reason for “Pay-for-knowledge” industry developing so fast?

- A. The fast network and smartphones make it possible for people to get.
- B. People are afraid to miss any useful information.
- C. People need to learn new skills in today’s job market.
- D. People are forced to pay for educational podcasts or live videos.

49. The underlined phrase “be lucrative” in Paragraph 3 means “_____”.

- A. produce lots of money
- B. get much information
- C. win great respect
- D. enjoy self-growth

50. The main purpose of this passage is to _____ .

- A. recommend the “Pay-for-knowledge” products to people
- B. advise everyone to learn knowledge by themselves online
- C. remind people to choose “Pay-for-knowledge” products wisely
- D. teach parents how to buy some online courses for their children

The COVID-19 epidemic (疫情) wave in China has ended. The virus did not rebound (反弹) significantly during the Spring Festival holiday and no new virus mutations (突变) were found, the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) said in a report on Jan 25. The overall pandemic is at a low level.

China stopped mass testing (大规模检测) on December 8, 2022, and downgraded (降级) its management of the disease from Class A to Class B on January 8. According to the CDC report, the epidemic wave reached its highest point in late December and then fell. The number of serious cases and deaths at hospitals has continued to drop off. By late January, the epidemic had waned (减弱).

Despite the waning epidemic, officials said the countryside is the key to disease control work. Because of more cross-border travel, China will keep a close watch on virus mutations and take actions to prevent them.

根据上面短文的内容回答问题（每个小题答案不超过6个单词）。

70. Did the virus rebound significantly during the Spring Festival holiday?

71. Is the overall pandemic at a low level or a high level?

72. When did China stop mass testing?

73. What is the key to disease control work?

74. Why will China keep a close watch on virus mutations and take actions to prevent them?

From big screens to small ones. Chinese cartoons have caught hearts and minds this Spring Festival. The cartoon film Deep Sea (《深海》) came out in Chinese theaters on January 22. It shows the deep sea adventure (冒险) of a young girl. In the beginning, audiences (观众) are amazed by the special and beautiful Chinese style of this film. The film looks bright and colourful and it doesn't show us a dark deep sea. The film has both the traditional culture and a modern feel.

According to the producer, Deep Sea is the first film to create the beauty of the traditional Chinese painting with 3D particle animation (粒子动画). The creators have used modern technologies. For example, computer graphics and 3D-to-2D animation are used. The technologies in Deep Sea are more modern than those in most cartoon films at home. The director of Deep Sea is Tian Xiaopeng who brings us the movie Monkey King: Hero Is Back (《西游记之大圣归来》).

75. The cartoon film Deep Sea _____ in Chinese theaters on January 22. It shows a young girl's _____.

76. The film looks bright and colourful _____ showing us a dark deep sea. The film has not only the traditional culture _____.

77. The producer _____ this film is the first to _____ to create the beauty of the traditional
