Have we ever thought what we read for? information or skills? How do we feel when we read, excited or upset? We read word by word aloud and think about them. Is that enough? I think reading is more than pronouncing or thinking about words.

Recently The Reader, a very popular TV program, is staged in the form of reading. It's a national reading program. Dong Qing works as both a hostess and a producer. The Reader hopes to tell us what the world is and it takes us to see the beautiful world by reading. The show has invited some influential (有影响力的) guests who have rich experiences and touching stories, like Ni Ping, Wang Yuan from TFboys and Yao Chen.

"Reading touches people's hearts" is the slogan (口号) of The Reader. What it wants to present isn't reading skills but real feelings. They are what touches the audience (观众) most. "I have long thought about working on a program related to the human spirit. So The Reader has become a turning point in my career in hosting and the program has brought me quite a huge challenge." said Dong.

The Reader is of great importance to the audience and Chinese culture. It also tells us if we keep our mind on what we are reading, we'll know what reading really is and we'll become better readers.
