In order to protect environment, it is very important to learn about the environment. There are many ways to understand how to protect the environment, such as reading books, asking someone and so on. We are students. In your spare time, you can read as many as books. Books in the library are worth reading. They will help you learn. Ask your classmates or librarians for some suggestions. They have good ideas. You can also get information about the environment on some good websites. Besides these, I have some suggestions.

In our everyday life, some people use less energy by carpooling. For example, three or four persons can ride together in one car instead of driving three or four cars to work. Usually it is time-saving and convenient to carpool with their neighbors to take their children to school. Whenever we use electricity, we should turn off lights, the TV, the computer and so on when we don't use them.

On the other hand, we should use energy-saving products. Some products, like environment-friendly new energy cars, are made specially to save energy. These cars can travel longer than ordinary cars. They also produce less pollution, too. Some products like computers and TVs with the ENERGY STAR label (能效标识) are made to save energy. The products with these labels will help us protect the environment.

Secondly, we should buy recyclable products instead of non-recyclable ones. Recyclable products usually take less energy. When we go shopping, pay attention to the recycle mark on the package: make a circle with three arrows.

(1) The passage is mainly written for _____.

- A. producers
- B. students
- C. businessmen
- D. drivers

(2) _____ (指) _____.

- A. sharing a car
- B. buying a car
- C. repairing a car
- D. producing a car

(3) _____ produce less pollution.

- A. New shared bicycles
- B. New energy cars
- C. TVs with ②
- D. Computers with ②

(4) What should we pay attention to when we go shopping?

A. Mark.

B. Price.

C. Weight.

D. Model.

(5) From the passage, we can learn _____.

A. how to turn off the electricity

B. how to recycle products

C. how to use energy cars

D. how to protect the environment

foreign experience should join this kind of holiday. I am sure you won't be disappointed(失望的)

After this special meeting, I always thought about this kind of holiday. Last month, I had a chance a last to go on such a holiday with some of my schoolmates and we went to London, a place where I had wanted to go since years ago.

As we were still young, we had a group leader who planned things for us and looked after us. After got to London, we went to stay with different families. I was lucky that my host family was a white couple who had a daughter about my age. They treated me as a daughter of their family during my stay there. They were interested in me and I learnt a lot of things from them, too.

The holiday was filled with activities every day. After breakfast, a local teacher would come to take us in his car. Then we would have classes or go on a sightseeing trip to different places of interest like the London Eye, Big Ben, the London Bridge, and the Buckingham Palace. We would go back to our own homes after the activities.

The holiday was a valuable experience for me. I enjoyed every minute of it. Yet, time really flew fast.

All schools have their own rules. The rules change from one school to another. Some schools are more stricter than others. There are also some rules that are strange or funny to us. Here are some funny school rules:

Most schools ask students to wear uniforms, such as sports suits or skirts. But Japanese schools even have rules about the colour of underwear! They also require that girls' socks should be folded in a certain way and boys' heads should be shaved (剃) . Other Japanese schools tell students that they can't go to the movies after sunset.

Different shoes in the USA

At some American schools, students have to change their shoes when they go into the schools every day. This makes sure students won't fall over on the floors and keeps the schools clean.

No strange hair in the UK

Strange hairstyles are not allowed in some British schools. But they might allow students to wear cool hairstyles during the World Cup years. There were two students who had special hairstyles during the 2006 World Cup. After the World Cup, their teachers asked them to go to the barber's at once.
