W: Hi Leo, why do you say English would e the world language?

M: Well. For one thing , it's so monly used , the only language that is used by more people is Chinese.

W: Why is English spoken by so many people?

M: It's spoken in many countries of the world because of the British empire. And now of course is the influence of America as well.

W: Many students find English a difficult language to learn.

M: Oh , all languages are difficult to learn. But English does have two greatest advantages.

W: What are they?

M: Well, first of all, it has a very international vocabulary. It has many German , Dutch , French , Spanish and Italian words in it. So speakers of those languages will find many familiar words in English. In fact, English has words for many other languages as well.

W: Why is that?

M: Well, partly because English speakers have travelled a lot , they bring back words with them. So English really does have an international vocabulary.

W: And what is the other advantage of English?

M: It's that English grammar is really quite easy. For example, it doesn't have dozens of different endings for its nouns, adjectives and verbs, not like Latin, Russian and German for example.

W: Why is that?

M: Well, it's quite interesting actually, it's because of the French. When the French ruled England, French was the official language, and only the poor people spoke English. They tried to make their language as simple as possible. So they made the grammar easier.

Man: Hello. Yes?

Woman: Hello. Is that the sales department?

M: Yes, it is.

W: Oh, well. My name is Jane Kingsbury of GPF limited. We need some supplies for our design office.

M: Oh, what sort?

W: Well, first of all, we need one quite new drawing board.

M: DO44 or DO45?

W: Ah, I don't know. What's the difference?

M: Well, the 45 costs 15 pounds more.

W: So what's the total price then?

M: It's 387 pounds.

W: Dose that include valued-added tax?

M: Oh, I'm not sure. Most of the prices do. Yes, I think it does.

W: What are the boards actually made of?

M: Oh, I don't know. I think it's a sort of plastic stuff these days.

It's white anyway.

W: And how long does it take to deliver?

M: Oh, I couldn't really say. It depends on how much work we've got and how many other orders there are to send out, you know.

W: Ok, now we also want some drawing pens, ink and rulers, and some drawing paper.

M: Oh dear. The girl who takes all those supplies isn't here this morning. So I can't take those orders for you. I only do the equipment you see.

W: Ok, well, perhaps I'll ring back tomorrow.

M: So do you want the drawing board then?

W: Oh, I have to think about it. Thanks very much. I'll let you know.

Good-bye.

M: Thank you. Good-bye.

No one knows for sure just how old kites are. In fact , they have been in use for centuries. 25 centuries ago , kites were well-known in China. These first kites were probably made of wood. They may even have been covered with silk , because silk were used a lot at that time. Early kites were built for certain uses. In ancient China , they will use to carry ropes to cross rivers. Once across , the ropes were tear down and wooden bridges would hang for them. Legend tells of one General who flew musical kites over the enemies' camp. The enemy fled , believing the sounds to be the warming voices of angels. By the 15th century , many people flew kites in Europe. Marco Polo may have brought the kite back from his visit to China. The kite has been linked to great names and events.

For instance , Benjamin Franklin used kite to prove the lightening electricity. He flew the kite in the storm. He did this in order to draw lightening from the clouds. He tied a metal key and a strip of silk to the kite line. The silk ribbon would stop the lightening from passing through his body. Benjamin's idea was first laughed at. But later on , it enlightened the invention of the lightening rod. With such grand history , kite flying is short remain an entertaining and popular sport.

短文 2

I have learnt many languages , but I'm not mastered them the way the professional interpreter or translator has. Still , they have open doors for me. They have allowed me the opportunity to seek jobs in international contexts and help me get those jobs. Like many people who have lived overseas for a while , I sim* got crazy about it. I can't im age living my professional or social life without international interactions. Since 1977 , I have spent much more time abroad than in the United States. I like going to new places , eating new foods and experiencing new cultures. If you can speak the language , it's easier to get to know the country and its people. If I had the time and money. I would live for a year in as many countries as possible. Beyond my career , my facility with languages has given me a few rare opportunities. Once , just after I returned my year in Vienna. I was asked to translate for a German judge at Olympic level horse event and learned a lot about the sport.

In Japan , once when I was in the studio audience of a TV cooking show , I was asked to go up on the stage and taste the beef dish that was being prepared and tell what I thought. They asked” Was it as good as American beef?” It was very exciting for me to be on Japanese TV , speaking in Japanese about how delicious the beef was.

Part 4 听写题

When you look up at the night sky , what do you see? There are other heavenly bodies out there besides the moon and stars. One of the most fascinating of this is a et. Comets were formed around the same the earth was formed. They are made up of ice and other frozen liquids and gasses. Now and then these dirty snow balls begin to orbit the sun just as the planets do. As a comet gets closer to the sun. Some gasses in it begin to unfreeze. They combine with dust particles from the comet to form a huge cloud. As the comet gets even nearer to the sun and solar wind blows the cloud behind the comet thus forming its tail. The tail and generally fuzzy atmosphere around the comet are characteristics that can help identify this phenomenon in the night sky. In any given year, about a dozen known comets come close to the sun in their orbits. The average person can't see them all of course. Usually there is only one or two a year bright enough to be seen with the naked eye. Comet Hale-Bopp discovered in 1995 was an unusually bright comet. Its orbit brought it relatively close to the earth within 122 million miles of it. But Hale-Bopp came a long way on its earthly visit. It won't be back for another 4 thousand years or so.
