A young goat was walking across a field.
Suddenly, a hungry wolf jumped out of the bushes.

The goat ran for his life, but the wolf soon caught him.

The hungry wolf licked his lips.
He opened his jaws to eat the goat.

“Wait!” cried the goat before
the wolf could gobble him up.
“Do me one favor before you eat
me!” he begged.

“What favor is that?” asked the wolf.

“It’s a small thing, really,” said the goat.

“I want to hear music once more
in my life,” said the goat.

“Would you please sing me a song
before you eat me?” he asked.
