Here’s to guilt-free flying

Maja Rosen gave up flying a decade ago out of concern for its environmental impact. But when she became a mother and started hanging out with other parents, she didn’t bring it up, even when the conversation turned to flying. It would have ____ the mood.

Then in April 2018, her home country of Sweden ____ a tax on aviation (飞行). The climate impacts of flying were on the evening news and the mood changed. Rosen ____ the moment. With her neighbor Lotta Hammar, she launched a campaign called “We stay on the ground”, which has ____ 10,000 people to commit to avoid flights in 2019.

Kudos. But here’s the ____ truth: in the grand scheme of things, barely anyone will follow suit. The ____ classes tend to have a lot to say about the eco benefits of avoiding meat, cycling and eating locally sourced food. But that ____ generally disappears when it comes to flying.

We can’t rely on international ____ to stop aviation emission either. Yes, the UN has fixed up a deal to cap aviation emissions beyond 2020. But it lacks real bite, allowing airlines to continue emitting carbon provided they offset (抵消) it.

All this means we could really do with green tech riding to the rescue. Here, at least, there is a little good news. Even rather simple measures like freeing planes to fly in straighter lines could ____ cut carbon emissions. Hybrid (混合动力的) electric aircraft are also the pipeline. And we already know that planes can mix up to 50 per cent biofuels into their tanks and fly safely.

It’s time to redouble our ____ to make planes green. In the meantime, if you are still looking for a New Year’s resolution, you might want to think about joining those 105000 Swedes.

13、选词填空。

broadcast, starve, undergo, tolerate, submit, release

With moderate greenhouse gases, such as methane and carbon dioxide ____ into the atmosphere, Earth can sustain life. But comprehensive evidence shows that more heat energy than necessary exists because of burning an increasing volume of fossil fuels. Hence, the warming trend has affected Earth’s ecology and harmonious development. News reports are frequently ____ about polar bears, seals and penguins that are ____ to death because of the melting ice. Tropical jungles are destroyed, making them less habitable for animals. What human beings can’t ____ is that garbage is thrown everywhere, such as waterways and basins. Faced with the severe situations, worldwide governments have reformed policies to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and restore the sensitive ecology. Dozens of enterprises have ____ and implemented their conservation regulations, saying, “We will immediately carry out the disposal of the waste we produce.” Individuals can also seize every chance to reduce the carbon footprint by the amount of CO₂ in the daily life. Although Earth has ____ some ecological chaos, people from all over the world confidently say that those measures can create a sustainable world.

Two months ago, Ryder Killam, a 15-year-old French boy was registered in a new school in Hawaii. He just moved there with his parents. Although he missed his old friends very much, he managed to adapt to his new school life and soon made a lot of friends.

However, waiting for the school bus every morning often meant a real suffering because Ryder was born with spina bifida（脊柱裂）and he has to live in a wheelchair. Hawaii is one of the rainiest places in the world. This is not an issue for other students, but for him this was a different story. He often got wet all over before the school bus arrived during the rainy days. In that case, he could only have classes with wet clothes on or called his parents to send dry clothes to school and finding a place to get changed was also a big challenge for this disabled boy.

To keep Ryder protected from the bad weather while waiting for the bus every morning, the students in Ryder's school decided to take action. They first uploaded a post on Facebook asking for an unused bus shelter but got no reply.

Not being able to find one, the students from the construction class decided to take on the challenge of building a customized bus shelter for him and quickly put their hands to work.

As part of the high school's Career and Technical Education program, the construction class teaches its students basic building skills. Its main goal is to provide students with tools and skills that will have real applications in future jobs and a meaningful impact on their community. They had already performed several building projects for the community. Two years ago, they managed to build dozens of shelters for stray cats in the local park. Soon enough, they came up with an idea of building a two-window shelter for Ryder.

Risha loved school. However, there was one class Risha worried about more than any other — art. She didn't know why she just wasn't any good at drawing, painting, or cutting.

Ms. Clay, the art teacher, stood at the front of the room. "Class, next Friday our school is going to have an art competition," she announced. Ms. Clay was a great teacher, and Risha liked her a lot. But this announcement made Risha nervous. "Everyone in the school will create a piece of artwork to show in the library. You can use the different types of artwork we have been studying." Ms. Clay was quite excited when she spoke while Risha found herself sinking lower in her chair.

Risha had the whole weekend to work on her project, but she could not think of anything to do. On Monday, Risha felt frightened, so after school Risha asked Ms. Clay if she could write an art paper instead of doing an art project.

"I understand this project scared you, Risha," Ms. Clay said. "Just remember, you can create any kind of art you want." Ms. Clay smiled at her. "Art is a person's way of expressing his or her feelings — it isn't always painting, drawing, or cutting. I know you will think of something very creative, and I can't wait to see it."

When Risha arrived home, she took out a piece of paper and a pencil. She remembered Ms. Clay's words. "Art is a person's way of expressing his or her feelings." Risha wrote the word "terrified" on her paper. She crumpled (弄皱) the paper and threw it to the side of her desk.

注意：

1. 续写词数应为150左右；

16、阅读下面材料，根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段，使之构成一篇完整的短文。

Days of January were passing and every girl of the girls' school was very happy as the selections for plays and dances for the annual function were started.

Sneha's class teacher, Pravina, asked Sneha, her favorite student, to play the leading character in a play. Because she was never allowed to play a male character, Sneha jumped with joy, but suddenly she became so serious about the costumes (戏服).

"How many times I have to tell you not to participate in plays and dances! Can't you understand that we can't buy or borrow the costly costume? You can take part in debates, quizzes, or essay competitions in which you don't have to spend money and you can enrich your knowledge," her mother said angrily when Sneha told her about it.

The reason behind all this was their financial condition. Sneha always had an idea about it in her home and she was mature enough to say NO to any money demanding condition. This time, however, the desire of fame and the excitement of the activity were overcoming her fear.

Sneha went in her room hiding her sadness deep in her heart. She was so nervous about what was going to happen when she would tell Pravina about leaving the play. Would she warn her not to allow her in any competition? Now it was clear that she had to leave the play.

The next day, downhearted Sneha acted like nothing had happened and got ready for school. Her mom ordered her to say NO for the play.

Sneha always loved Pravina because whenever there was a play or dance, the girls did not need to be worried about anything related with money. She would find a way to help. But Sneha didn't want to tell her the truth.

Paragraph 1:

Sneha went to the teacher, "I don't want to take part in the play and I'm leaving."

Paragraph 2:

Pravina stood patiently, waiting for the performance to begin.

17、阅读下面材料，根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段，使之构成一篇完整的短文。

In the Game

"I'm gonna play basketball, Daddy." My daughter, Lauren, whooped, skipping into the room. "There are only eleven girls in Verden, and everybody makes the team."

High-school sports is the biggest thing that happens in Verden, so I shouldn't have been surprised when Lauren announced she was going out for the girls' basketball teams — Lady Tiger. But I was. My wife and I never told Lauren that she was disabled. We didn't want her to feel different from other children. She has Down syndrome (唐氏综合征).

What if the other girls on the team failed to accept her? What if Lauren spent most of her time on the bench? What if she got injured during the game? What should I say to the coach?

The next afternoon, I parked by the basketball court.

"Hey, Johnny," Coach Forthythe called. "We're glad Lauren came out for the team."

"Well, Mr. Forthythe, you know we don't expect you to play her in a game. just include her when you can."

The game arrived the next Sunday. I settled into a seat on the second row with my wife. Moments later, a train of girls chugged out of the locker room. Last in line was Lauren. I stood along with the crowd and clapped. She searched the stands. spotted us and waved broadly.

The game got off to a good start, but soon Verden was behind. I gazed at Lauren, the most excited on the team.

Just less than two minutes were left, and Verden was down by 17 points. Coach called a time-out. Then boomed the announcer's voice, "Number thirty-three, Lauren, in for the Lady Tigers."

参考答案

一、选择题(共6题，共12分)

1、B

【分析】

考查过去分词作状语。表示 " 陷于困境 " 是be trapped in，题中的the little boy与trap之间是逻辑上的动宾关系，所以应该用过去分词作状语，选B。

2、B

【分析】

【详解】

考查时态。句意：当他表示他很快就会离职时候我们都很惊讶。根据“made”和“soon”可知，此处表示过去将要发生的动作，应该用过去将来时，故B项正确。

3、B

【分析】

【分析】

【详解】

考查过去分词。句意：他埋头于功课，对外面的世界一无所知。be buried in“埋头于”为固定短语，本句省略be用过去分词作状语。故选B项。

【点睛】

4、C

【分析】

【详解】

考查时态。句意：杰克告诉我他会回到他的祖国，但他没有告诉我他将什么时候离开。

A. will leave将离开（一般将来时）； B. leaves离开（一般现在时）； C. was leaving将离开（过去将来时）； D.

left离开了（一般过去时）。整个句子是一般过去时。在宾语从句中，主句如果是过去时，宾语从句应该用过去时的一种。主句he didn't tell me是一般过去时，leave用进行时表示将来时，因此用过去进行时表示过去某一时间将要进行的动作，故选C项。

5、B

【分析】

【详解】

考查非谓语动词和形容词。句意：完成于1842年，海克利尔是英国最昂贵的房子之一，价格超过1.5亿美元。分析句子结构，is是谓语动词，空格1在句中作状语，主语Highclere和complete之间是动宾关系，应用过去分词形式，空格1填completed；空格2在句中作状语，填形容词worth。故选B项。

6、C

【分析】

【详解】

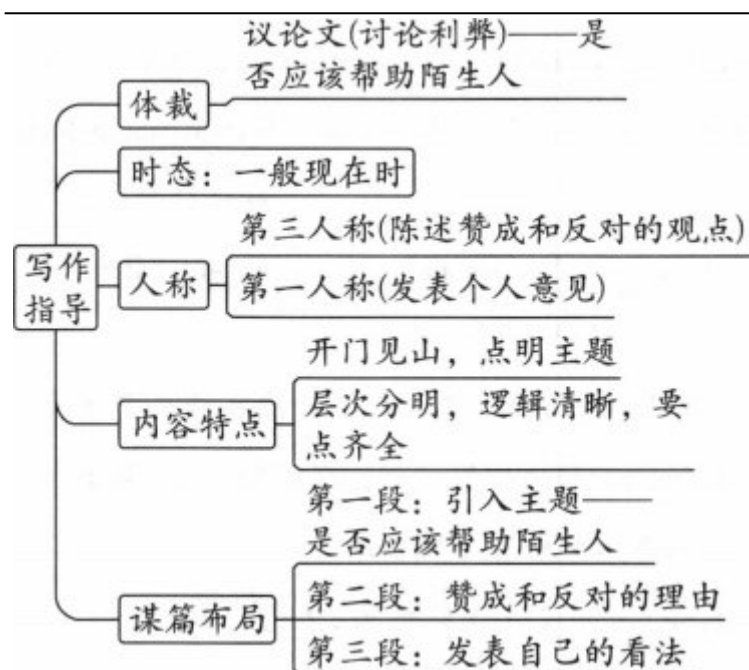

考查过去分词作状语。句意：专心看报，他没注意到发生了什么。根据句意和选项内容可知，空格处应该用bury的非谓语形式作状语；根据bury一词的用法，“专心于”翻译为be buried in，“我专心看报”应该翻译为I was buried in the newspaper，所以句子的主语I和动词bury之间是被动关系，应该用过去分词buried作状语。故选C项。

二、图表作文(共5题，共10分)

7、略

【分析】

写作思路:

【解析】

范文赏读:

Recently our class had a discussion about whether we should help strangers. Different students have different opinions.

Some think we should try to help strangers. Helping others is a virtue, and helping others is helping ourselves (动名词作主语). We may come across some trouble and need others' help some day. If they aren't willing to help us just because we are strangers to them, it's hard to imagine what our world will be like(what引导的宾语从句). However, some are afraid that helping others can sometimes bring us trouble. Sometimes we are just misunderstood.

In my opinion, we should try our best to help others when they are in need of help, but we should also protect ourselves from getting into trouble. If everyone offers a little kindness, our world will be full of love.
