When it comes to giving a name to a child, there are many different kinds of traditions in different places around the world.

In many European cultures, parents' choices for their child's name may be based on names of relatives with their family. For example, in Italy, children are traditionally named after their grandparents. The parents generally use their grandparents' names first on their father's side. If they have more children, they will use the ones on their mother's side.

Traditionally in some Asian countries, it is a child's grandfather who chooses the child's name. What's more, a child's name may influence his character. From the name, we might know the child is outgoing, shy or brave and so on. For example, names have something to do with some certain things such as wuxing: metal, wood, water, fire and earth.

In some certain African cultures, the time of a baby's birth plays an important part in choosing the child's name. But each day has different names for boys and girls. For example, a boy born on Friday is usually named Kofi and a girl born on the same day is usually named Afua.

No matter where the name comes from, a child's name is the first gift in life. The name reflects something about different cultures.

26. Children ____ are traditionally named after their grandparents.

- A. in China B. in India C. in Italy D. in Africa

27. A new-born baby in Asia will be traditionally named by his ____.

- A. grandmother B. mother C. father D. grandfather

28. What plays an important part in choosing a child's name in Africa?

- A. The time when a child is born.

- B. The place where a child is born.
C. The weather when a child is born.
D. The person who a child is born to see.
29. What does the last paragraph mainly tell us?
- A. Children should learn the name culture.
B. Name should show a person's character.
C. Parents should give children a good name.
D. We should respect and value all names in life.
30. You may read the passage in the part of ____ in a newspaper.
- A. science B. education C. travel D. culture

Kara's neighborhood was filled with many children of her age. She knew everyone on her street and how talented they were.

She could hear Joanne playing her guitar every afternoon when they got home from school. And she could hear Tommy practicing the piano for hours at a time. Sylvia had a sweet singing voice.

"There is so much talent right on this street," Kara said to her mother. "I wish everyone could see and hear all the great things."

"Have you ever thought about setting up a talent show?" her mother said. "So all the kids can show what they can do."

"A great idea, Mom," Kara said. Soon Kara started to prepare for the talent show. To attract as many people as possible, Kara made some beautiful posters and put them up all around her neighborhood. Soon, everyone was talking about what they were going to do in the show.

Kara was pleased that everyone wanted to be in her talent show. But she couldn't help feeling a little sad. "I wish I had a talent so I could be in the show, too," she told her mother.

Her mother smiled. "I think you will discover something about yourself by the end of the day," she said.

Kara went to the park a little early and set up a small stage for the performers. Everyone brought chairs to sit on the cool grass. Soon Kara's friends began to perform one by one. The audience (观众) cheered loudly after each act. When it was over, everyone told Kara how wonderful her talent show was.

"What a success your show was, Kara!" said her mother as they walked home. "And I think we've discovered what your talent is!"

31. What did Kara think of the children in the neighborhood?

- A. They were very busy every day.
- B. They were talented in something.
- C. They were shy in front of the crowd.
- D. They were good at musical instruments.

32. Why did Kara feel sad before the show?

- A. Because she wished she had a talent so she could be in the talent show.
- B. Because she found none of her friends wanted to be in the talent show.
- C. Because she learned her neighbors didn't want to watch the talent show.
- D. Because she worried the stage wasn't large enough for so many performers.

33. Which of the following shows how Kara's feelings changed over time?

- A. Good→sad→happy.
- B. Sad→happy→impatient.
- C. Impatient→sad→happy.
- D. Sad→good→happy.

34. What was Kara's talent in her mother's eyes?

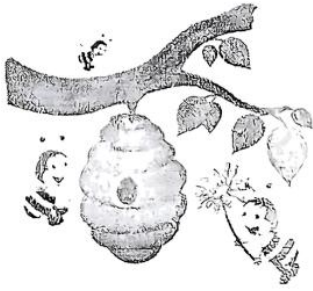

- A. She was good at making posters.
- B. She was very popular with children.
- C. She had great skills in communication.
- D. She had an excellent ability of organizing a show.

35. What can we learn from the text?

- A. No one likes a show-off.
- B. Everyone has a special talent.
- C. No one can do everything well.
- D. Everyone should take up a hobby.

Our lives would not be the same without bees. Bees help plants grow. Many of these plants provide us with food. What would happen if there were no bees? Some fruits and vegetables that we enjoy could not grow. Bees are wonderful creatures.

But now the number of bees is getting lower and lower. Scientists worry that bees may die off. How to solve it? One answer is to make our gardens friendly to bees.

Making our gardens bee-friendly can increase the number of bees. Planting a bee garden is a great idea. These gardens provide bees with nectar (花蜜). A successful bee garden would have flowers from spring to fall. The garden would have all types of plants that are closely grouped together.

Many people believe that all bees live in hives (蜂箱). In fact, some bees dig into the ground. There they build their nests and lay their eggs. People lay wood pieces or other things on the ground. Bees can not dig nests when these materials cover the ground. Here is another good way to help bees. When you are working outside, leave loose dirt (松土) in flower beds and gardens.

Some bees' nests are in old pieces of wood while others' in holes, in buildings or in trees. Gardens can provide spaces like these for bees. Trees or walls that stop wind are a good idea. And cool areas also can help bees get away from the hot sun. Bee gardens also provide bees with water. Bees need water just like people do.

Making a garden friendly for bees is far from a useless task. The results are worth the efforts. A bee-friendly garden is beautiful and colorful. Most importantly, it helps to keep bees healthy and happy.

36. Why are bees so important to us?

- A. Because they help plants grow.
- B. Because the number of bees is low.
- C. Because they are wonderful creatures.
- D. Because they make our gardens beautiful.

37. What can we do to build a bee-friendly garden?

- ① Plant flowers as many as possible.
- Provide spaces that keep bees from harm.
- ③ Lay wood pieces or other materials on the ground.
- ④ Clear useless materials on the ground in the garden.

- A. ①②③ B. ②③④ C. ①②④ D. ①③④

38. What does the underlined word "nests" mean in Paragraph 4?

- A. The tools bees use.
- B. The things bees eat.
- C. The games bees love.
- D. The places bees live in.

39. How does the writer help us understand a successful bee-friendly garden?

- A. By listing the problems bees face.
- B. By telling the order of how a plant grows.
- C. By explaining the help it provides for bees.
- D. By showing the reasons that bees are dying.

40. What's the best title for the text?

- A. Bees' Living Habits
- B. Fun Facts about Bees
- C. A Bee-friendly Garden
- D. A New Use of a Garden

You've been playing in a pool for almost an hour. When you get out of the pool, you will notice there are some wrinkles (皱纹) on your fingers. This is nothing new. But do you want to know the reason?

In fact, your skin is covered with its own special oil. It is the surface of your skin. It can protect your skin and keep the water out. When you stay in the water for a long time, the oil will be washed off. The water can then get into your skin. This makes your skin doubled in some places but not in others. Then wrinkles appear as a result.

Anyway, there is no need to worry about the wrinkles. Once the water in the fingers has completely gone, they will go away soon and the skin will return to normal. They may even help protect you better. The wrinkles can give you a better grip in water or on wet ground so that you can't fall easily. Then you can hold things and move more easily under water. Imagine a world without wrinkly fingers. How terrible it is!

Although it isn't harmful to us, we still need to protect our hands carefully. What can we do to avoid getting wrinkly fingers? The first is to cut down the amount of time when your hands or feet are in the water. The second is to have less contact (接触) with soap and other similar things. These things may break the outer surface of your skin. The last is to use plenty of hand cream. All of these methods will play a role in keeping your hands smooth.

41. What is the purpose of Paragraph 2?

- A. To tell how to avoid the wrinkles.
- B. To explain why the wrinkles appear.
- C. To list the advantages of the wrinkles.
- D. To show the disadvantages of the wrinkles.

42. What does the writer think of the wrinkles on fingers?

- A. They can make people ugly.
- B. They are helpful to protect us.
- C. They are harmful to people's health.
- D. They will never disappear once there.

43. What does the underlined word "grip" probably mean in Chinese?

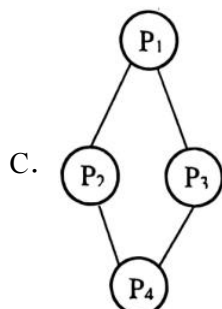

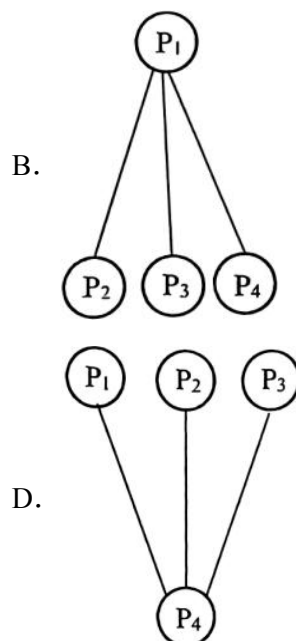

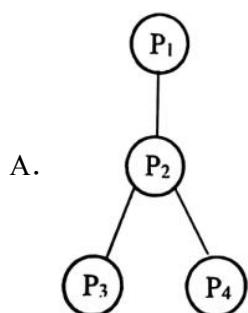

- A. 防滑性
- B. 稳定性
- C. 包容性
- D. 抗压性

44. How can we avoid getting wrinkly fingers?

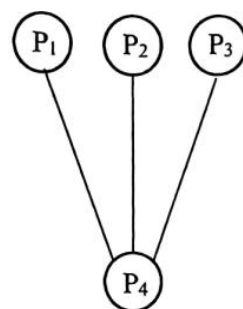

- a. By using fingers less.
- b. By having less contact with soap.
- c. By reducing the time in the water.
- d. By using plenty of hand cream.

- A. abc
- B. acb
- C. bcd
- D. abd

45. What is the structure of the passage? (P=Paragraph)
