- How many stages are there in the book? And what are they?
- Which stage are you most interested in? Why?

Become a squire

If you'd lived in the Middle Ages, you wouldn't have gone to school. Instead, boys and girls from rich families were sent to live with another rich family in their castle or manor.

They learnt how to read, write and play a musical instrument. They learnt good manners and had to serve their lord and lady at mealtimes. Boys were called pages. Girls were called ... girls!
