Don't just focus on the price tag when you want to choose a gift. Instead, get creative and think about a different set of values.

There are many things you can buy for friends, family members or even teachers. Each present sends a _____46_____ message. It's a real chance to prove how well you know them and their interests. Before you buy something, think about the _____47_____ of the person you're buying for. It's not the price of the gift, but the thought behind it.

You can also give your time to the presents. Home-made presents are special and show you care enough about the person you will give presents to. _____48_____ with emotion can also bring a sense of happiness. It could be making a greeting card with a self-created poem inside or baking lovely cupcakes. Whatever you decide, make it amazing—for them and for you. And a gift doesn't even have to be _____49_____". It could be simply hanging out together, including watching your friend's must-see movie or asking a grandparent to tell you more about his/her childhood. The gift of time is _____50_____—think carefully about how the other person would wish to spend a few hours or a day together.

I had spent an hour in the bank with my dad, since he had to transfer money(转账). I asked, “Dad, why don’t we do it with your 51 banking?” He had already opened one a few months ago. “Why would I do that?” he replied. “Well, then you won’t have to 52 an hour here for things like transfer. You can even do your shopping online; everything will be so 53!” I was so excited to tell him all kinds of advantages about it.

He asked, “If I do that, I won’t have to step 54 the house?” “Yes, yes!” I said. I told him how Amazon sends everything people have paid online to their homes.

His answer made me 55. He said, “Since I entered this bank today, I have met four of my friends; I have chatted a while with the people who know me very well by now. You know I’m lonely... This is what I need 56. I like to get ready and come to the bank. I have enough time and it is the ‘physical touch’ that I 57. 八、阅读下面短文, 根据短文内容判断句子正误。正确的写“A”, 错误的写“B”。(共 5 小题, 每小题 2 分, 计 10 分)

短文内容判断句子正误。正确的涂“A”，错误的涂“B”。

Here is an experiment (实验) to see how ants can organize some clever teamwork.

1. First you need some ants. You may have to wait until the summer to find them on roads around your home.	2. When you have found an ant, put a thin slice of fruit in front of it. It may eat some of it or carry bits away.	3. Check the fruit after an hour. Have other ants been attracted to it? If so, what are they doing?	4. When there are lots of ants, move the fruit to a new position. What do the ants do?

What's going on? You can see one of the best examples of insect teamwork by watching ants. If one ant finds food, it leads others there to eat it, too. They follow each other by making long trails (踪迹). The ants go back and forth collecting food, to take back to their nest. When you move the fruit, the ants will still find it. But, instead of making a new direct route (路线) to the food, they will follow each other through their old trail route.

- 61. To do this experiment, the first step is to put a slice of fruit in front of an ant.
- 62. If one ant finds food, he will wait until the other ants come.
- 63. When the fruit is moved to a new position, the ants will still follow the old route.
- 64. The experiment is successfully done in the lab.
- 65. From the passage we may infer the ant is the animal that is willing to share.

Many new kinds of stationery are invented these years. And they already entered the daily life of students. Have you ever bought such products? Do you think such “high-tech” stationery (文具) is helpful? Here are some different opinions.
Dong I have many products of such stationery. I bought them not only for their looks but also for their usefulness. Actually, with the “high-tech” products, life becomes much more convenient. For example, by using the electric pencil sharpener, you won’t get your hands dirty or waste time cleaning your desk. What a great helper! Zhong Such stationery is handy and convenient. They are useful. For example, they save time. It takes only 5 to 10 seconds (秒) to clean your desk with an electric cleaner but will take about 20 seconds by hand. You may think a few seconds doesn’t matter. But after 100 times of doing it, it will be a lot of time. So be open-minded and try new things.	Qiu I don’t buy such “high-tech” stationery. Stationery is study tools that should be useful, not for playing with. They can easily distract students in class. Students might spend a longer time on simple things. And, high-tech stationery is usually expensive. My stationery is normal and completely enough for daily use. Wang I don’t think such stationery is necessary. I find that some of my classmates are just busy playing with them and showing off in front of others. They may have forgotten that the stationery should actually be used to help make their study life easier, but not make them ignore (忽略) what they are learning.

71. Which good point of “high-tech” stationery is both mentioned by Dong and Zhong?

Many people have told me they are not happy. They want so much, but they get too little. For friends who have this problem, I have something to share. One of my patients, a successful businessman, tells me that before his cancer (癌症) he would become upset ___1___ things went a certain way. Happiness was "having the cookie". If you had the cookie, things were good. If you didn't have the cookie, life was ___2___ nothing. Unfortunately, the cookie kept ___3___. Some of the time it was money, and sometimes power. At other times, it was the new car, or the bigger house. A year after he knew he got cancer, he sat ___4___ his head regretfully. "It seems that I stopped learning how to live after I was a kid. When I give my son a cookie, he is happy. If I take the cookie away or it breaks, he is unhappy. But he is two and I am forty-three. It has taken me this long to understand that the cookie will never make me happy. The minute you have the cookie it starts to fall to pieces or you start to worry about it. For this part, I do no ___5___ than my son. You know, you have to give up a lot of things to take care of the cookie, to keep it and be sure that ___6___ takes it away from you. You may not even get ___7___ to eat it because you are so busy just trying not to lose it. It seems that getting the cookies itself stops you ___8___ by the goddess of fortune, so having the cookie is not what life is about."

My patient laughs and says cancer has changed him. For the first time he is happy. No matter if his business goes 9 or not. "Two years ago, cancer asked me, "What is really important?" Well, life is important. Life. Life any way you can have it, life with the cookie, life without the cookie. Happiness does not have anything to do with the cookie. It has to do with being 10. Oh, I guess life is the cookie."

Friends, hold your life tight. Live a happy life.

Can you imagine an AI chatbot (聊天机器人) competing with you in an examination? Do you think you could get higher scores than it? A new AI chatbot called ChatGPT recently passed a law school exam! Sounds crazy?

ChatGPT was developed by US company Open AI. 2 You can ask it to write stories and emails, translate languages, and answer all kinds of questions. According to a US survey of more than 1000 students, over 89 percent of them have used ChatGPT to help with homework. 3 For example, New York City public schools don't allow students and teachers to use ChatGPT on the district's networks and devices (设备).

The measure (措施) comes out of worries that the tool could make it easier for students to cheat on homework.

"It does not develop thinking quality and problem-solving skills, which are necessary for studying and lifelong success," said Jenna Lyle. Apart from bans (禁令), teachers are making changes to their classes to prevent the use of ChatGPT. Some college teachers in the US try to include more speaking exams and handwritten papers instead of typed ones.

5 Some Canadian universities are making rules on its use, for both students and teachers. They have no plans to completely ban the tool so far. Some people said that bans on AI software like ChatGPT are not wise. "We have to know that AI is a tool people will use," What we need to do is "change our learning, teaching and examinations". In that way we can "have integrity (诚信) while recognizing the use of the tool".

- A. It is a powerful tool.
- B. So it is very popular among students.
- C. However, not all educators say "no" to ChatGPT.
- D. Some schools in the US do not allow students to use it.
- E. The use of ChatGPT has raised heated discussions in the education world.
- F. Some also worry that ChatGPT could be used to spread incorrect information.

B.完成图表。阅读下面短文，根据其内容，完成图表中所缺的信息。(共5小题，每小题1分，计5分)

Some people understand loneliness as someone (usually an old person) sits alone, looking out of a window. However researchers have actually found that those who report experiencing loneliness the most are young people, and they understand loneliness differently. Their loneliness mainly come from the relationship with people around them.

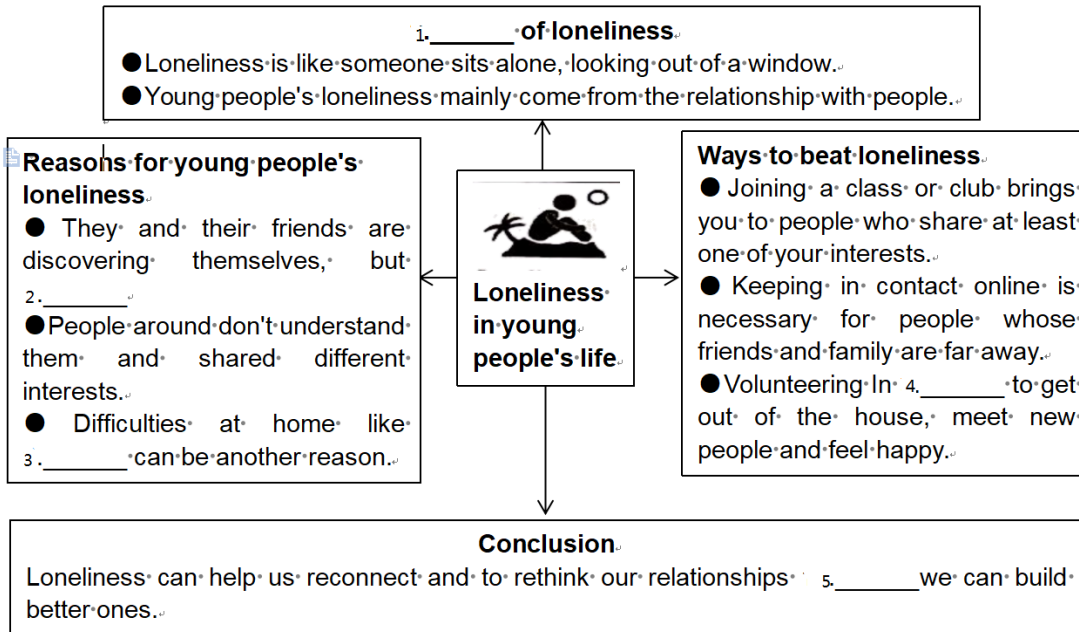

For young people, loneliness is “as a bad feeling about a difference between the relationships they have and those they want.” It appears in three ways. Firstly, they might feel lonely when being with people who don’t really understand them or share common interests with them. Another reason is their developing sense of self-discovering who they are. The challenge is that their friends are going through the same process, but might not follow the same direction as them. So they feel lonely. The last one is that young people often report feeling lonely at school, while home is a comfortable space. But when there are difficulties at home—such as arguments with family members, they get the feeling of loneliness again and even worse.

Here are some ways to beat loneliness.1. Join a class or club Whether it’s an art class, exercise class, or a book club, joining a class or club brings you to a group of people who share at least one of your interests.

2. Keep in contact online If your friends or family live far away or you can’t go out to meet them, programmes such as WeChat can help you to keep in touch.

3. Volunteer in your free time It can offer us a great chance to get out of the house, meet new people and feel happy.

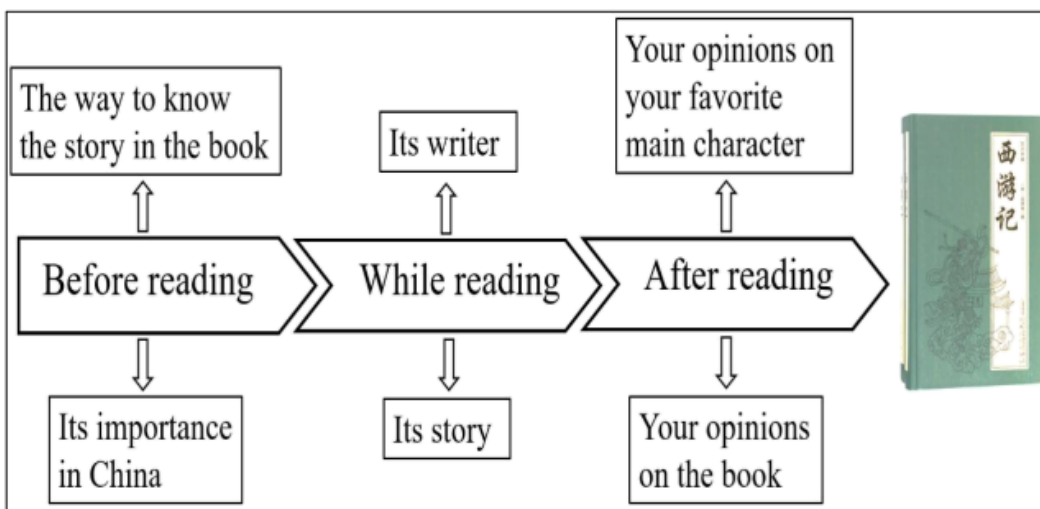

If you find yourself feeling lonely and it seems like nothing is helping, do not give up hope. Although loneliness is often a difficult experience, it can help us to reconnect and to rethink our relationships, as a result, we can build better ones.

6. _____
7. _____
