

五年级上册英语译林版-零五网英语 课课练答案

【各位读友，本文仅供参考，望各位读者知悉，如若喜欢或者需要本文，可点击下载下载本文，谢谢！】祝大家工作顺利】

综合英语第五册课后答案

第一单元

IV

Mother meant to deliberately overlook whatever she did not like and could not change.

From June to the end of July school closed for the summervacation

Literally, the writer was unable to open wide her eyes due to the dazzling summer sunlight as well as her eyes defect. Figuratively, the freedom, equality and democracy all American citizens were allegedly entitled to were simply distorted images in the author's eye.

Mother was bright and father brown, and the three of us girls represented gradations from bright to brown.

Inside the Breyer's the soda fountain was so dim and the air so cool that the pain of my eyes was wonderfully lessened.

My forceful question got no response from my family; they remained silent as if they had done something wrong and shameful walking into Breyer's.

My anger was not going to be noticed or sympathized with by my family members who were similarly angry, though.

Language work

III

1. has decreed

2. agonizing

3. approvingly

4. ensconced

5. flair

6. vulnerability

7. relief

8. avowed

VI

1. black 2. behave

3. mind

4. meant

5. mercy

6. though

7. before

8.

worse

9. what 10. experienced

Key to Translation(第一单元)

I.

1. I haven't seen it myself, but it is supposed to be a really good movie.

2. The hostess cut the cheese into bite-size pieces.

3. No one can function properly if they are deprived of adequate sleep.

4. He carefully copied my pretense that nothing unusual had occurred.

5. It was scorching outside; all the tourists escaped into the fan-cooled hut.

6. I ' ve come to see his fabled footwork that people talk so much about.

7. I ' m not a teacher proper, since I haven ' t been trained, but I ' ve had a lot teaching experience. 8.

Students tend to anticipate what questions they will be asked on the examination.

Key to Unit 2

Iv.

My brother and I were unable to walk out quietly and secretly, like other children, to the open field to play kids ' games, for we were forced to go to Chinese school.

Our kicking, screaming and pleading could not in the least make our mother change her mind about sending us to Chinese school.

She dragged us by force all the way from our home to school, a long hilly distance of seven blocks, finally leaving us, hostile and tearful, in front of the severe headmaster.

In Chinatown, large crowds of Chinese were coming and going with their routine responsibilities in a disorderly, overexcited way.

He was fastidiously particular about (was critical of) my mother's English.

Ultimately I was permitted to stop learning Chinese culture.

Finally I assumed that I was one of the Americans and that I was not one of the Chinese. Unfortunately, I am, as a matter of fact, still Chinese.

Language work

Translation

1. Nowadays, some parents are hard on their sons and daughters, asking them to learn English, to learn to play the piano, to learn painting, and to learn many things.

2. He is determined to give up gambling, so when he sees his former gambling friends, he is more than eager to disassociate himself from their company.

3. The reporters received a stern warning not to go to the earthquake-stricken area without official permission.

4. Life is tough for parents whose kids fail to keep up in school.

5. The suspect considered sneaking away, but his family managed to dissuade him.

6. The cables are all bright yellow to prevent pedestrians from tripping over them.

7. Infuriated by the decision, he threw up his arms in exasperation.

8. The paint on the door of this old house has been blotched and 第三单元答案

IV.

1. We were waiting outside the cells, where prisoners under the death sentence were jailed.

2. We, government officials and inspectors, walked behind the warders and the prisoner.

3. I found the inexplicable injustice that was being done in putting to an end a prisoner's life, which was still in its prime.

4. The prisoner, who belonged to us now, would be promptly put to

5. People had a strong desire to sing, to run and to snigger (after the hanging was over).

6. You can hardly believe that it took as many as six warders to remove him from the cage bars.

Language work

III.

homely appeal magistrates amicably solemn vanished

twisted

clumsily

VI.

letters

choice whether death killed aware such

Abroad

abolition same

Translation

My daughter started jumping up down with rage when she heard she couldn't go.

The party was in full tide when the police burst in.

Helen reached out and took a glass from the cupboard.

Parents are more tolerant of children in public places than at home.

The discussion threw up a lot of interesting ideas.

It isn't polite to poke fun at your colleagues in public.

This room could do with a good cleaning for distinguished guests.

The fashion festival passed off peacefully, despite all sorts of fears the local government had.

Unit 4

Text comprehension

IV.

Her vivid expression and tender smile encouraged me to continue my lecture.

Although we seem to be living and studying so closely, we are virtually behaving like strangers.

If we have no models of love to follow, we will be growing up lacking in love and not knowing how to love

If you are afraid of being misunderstood, explain your feelings in words to the person you're embracing.

Tears rolled down his father's cheeks as he spoke in a quiet voice.

As I am trying to ask others to offer love and feel loved, I am actually experiencing the same.

The continual efforts I have made to seek love have made my life richer and more meaningful.

Language work

III.

1 pursuit 2 compliment 3 virtually 4 poise
5 panicked 6 vulnerable 7 premise 8 facility

IV. 1 lack 2 If 3 help
4 that 5 comparison 6 But 7 other 8 feet 9 blood 10 serve

Translation

After a late-night phone call of blackmail from an unknown man, she couldn't manage to put herself through.

We should keep in mind that dining at a greasy spoon is unhealthy.

He believes that it ' s unreasonable for some people to enjoy wealth and privilege by virtue of power.

He spoke haltingly about how the scenes of horror in that science fiction movie struck him.

That many youngsters have their hair colored stylishly does not mean that they are belief-starved.

At the sight of the treasure lost for ages, tears welled up in his eyes.

It is noticed that examinations can drive some students out of their mind.

She snapped the door shut, leaving for home.

第五课

IV.

I was then a young girl without a clear idea of what to do in the future; but I was keener on literature than on natural science.

I think the reason why I enjoyed looking at the photo was not because Marie Curie herself was in the photo, nor because she represented a great woman, but because her image appealed to me.

Marie Curie ' s own daughters distinguished themselves in their respective field due to their own efforts and competence.

Finally she fell in love with Casimir Zorawski.

She, a poor, common nursemaid, was much lower in social status than her young master.

The reality was much harder, not as romantic as shown in the 1943 film Madame Curie.

They were highly respected in the European scientific community, entertained exuberantly and visited by acolytes to show their reverence to the Curies at home in Paris.

The changes in Madame Curie brought about by the loss of her husband were much more profound than the simple change from a happy young wife to an inconsolable widow. The shadow of loneliness and introversion hung over her for the rest of her life.

The Marie Curie I discovered was not an image of a holy saint, but a woman existing in real life.

Language work

despite 2. resembled 3.

because 4. ran 5. repeated

6. Those 7. which 8. solving

9. While 10. exhausted

Translation

1 Researchers suggest that people in their old age should engage in mental and physical activities individually as well as in groups.

2. The fact that he won the gold medal at the Olympic Games made him overnight the toast of his hometown.

3. Many states leaders came to pay homage to him for his lifetime achievements.

4. I suppose that the rapid change in life and globalization are apt to make people become less single-minded.

5. His failure in winning a second championship dampened his enthusiasm for athletic activities.

6. Expectations for economic recovery faded away when devaluation occurred again.

7. My father and I fought, with no cooling-off period between rounds. It was a cold war lasting from the onset of my adolescence until I went off to college.

8. The pitiful story told by the 以上内容仅为本文档的试下载部分，为可阅读页数的一半内容。如要下载或阅读全文，请访问：<https://d.book118.com/826014211134010131>