Presentation

Jenny and Danny talk about the trip and their projects.

Jenny: Hi, Danny. Did you have a good rest after our trip?

Danny: Yes, I slept for two full days! I feel good now.

Jenny: We had a great trip. We learned so much. And we saw our friend Li Ming again.

Danny: Yes. Are you ready for your project?

Jenny: Yes, I am. I will talk about Marco Polo. We heard a lot about him on the Silk Road. What's your project about?

Danny: My project is about some places of interest in China. I will talk about the places and things on the trip. I still can't believe it—they don't have donuts on the Silk Road.

Jenny: Danny! You can find donuts anywhere in Canada. The Silk Road is about history and culture, not donuts.

Danny: Yes, I know. I'm making a joke. Let's go to the library and work on our projects.

Jenny: Good idea.

Dig In

What is a joke? A joke is something funny you say to make people laugh. Do you know jokes in Chinese? Can you translate any jokes into English?
