第二节. 完形填空(共 20 小题; 每小题 1 分, 满分 20 分)

阅读下面短文, 掌握其大意, 然后从 21-40 各题所给的四个选项 (A、B、C 和 D) 中, 选出最佳选项。

Once upon a time, there lived a man who wanted to achieve everything he was capable of achieving. He was obsessed with this desire --- he ate, slept, and walked with one and only dream: to die, having accomplished every single thing he was able to accomplish.

There were so many things he could do. He felt like the whole world could be his, 41 he set his mind to it.

He knew that his 42 had no limits. He knew that he could accumulate 43 that would dwarf (使相形见绌) that of ancient kings; he knew that he could 44 books that would shake the minds of generations; he knew that he could 45 things that would forever change the lives of millions of people. He lived, constantly feeling the power within --- and that power knew no bounds.

There was only one problem: having such a potential, but only one 46, he had to make a choice. He had to decide where to 47 all of his ability. Making that decision was extremely hard, for any 48 meant cutting off some future achievements. In the meantime, he went to school, graduated, found a job, married, and 49 children. And he spent every minute of his spare time trying to decide 50 he should bring his potential into full play.

Time went by, and he grew 51. Some roads he used to dream about became closed to him. But there was still so much he could accomplish.

One day, a sudden chest pain made him come home early. He dragged his feet to the bathroom. There, feeling 52, he looked in the mirror. A worn-out, gray-haired man stared back at him. He looked 53 into these eyes and, all of a sudden, 54 one simple truth. The next moment, the pain came again, and his heart stopped 55 forever.

The truth that came upon him was rather simple: People only flatter themselves (自以为是, 自鸣得意) by thinking that they could have 56 this or that if not for such-and-such circumstances. Yet this is nothing but 57. You simply lack something that is 58 for achieving that goal you've never reached --- a talent, a skill, willpower, 59 something else. In fact, 60 you don't achieve is something you're not capable of achieving.
