B

Middle school talent shows in the US are held every year. Whatever you're good at, you have five minutes to show the world. It's early in the school year and kids can become little celebrities (名人). The shy boy who spends his evenings practicing the Spanish guitar will surprise his classmates with beautiful music. The sporty girl on the soccer team will wow (使喝彩) the crowd with her sweet singing voice. Everyone has a chance to shine.

Almost anyone can do almost anything in a talent show. As long as your act isn't rude or illegal (不合法的), it's a "go".

On the day of the show, all the students sit in the school gym, and ready to cheer for the skills of their classmates.

Many of today's stars started their careers (事业) in school talent shows. So, you can become a star in your own right at your middle school talent show.

54. Which of the following is TRUE about the school talent show in the US?

- A. It is held at the beginning of every term.
- B. A student has five minutes on stage.
- C. Shy boys and quiet girls don't like it.
- D. There are many competitions.

55. You can't take part in the talent show if _____.

- A. you are a new student
- B. you can't play the guitar very well
- C. your act is against the law
- D. you don't have a funny act

56. What does the passage mainly talk about?

- A. American students' talent.
- B. Students' surprising changes.
- C. Stars' early careers.
- D. American middle school talent shows.

答案 54—56

From an early age, we were taught that if we wanted to be successful, we had to study hard and get good results at school. In fact, good students may just end up doing jobs they don't like, and some even lead an unhappy life. Why is it like that?

In some parents' eyes, school grades matter most for their kids. In real life, there are many things to think besides the school subjects, for example, how to be a happy person, what to do to keep healthy, and how to get along well with others. That is to say, school grades are not just enough if you want to have a great life.

Doing well in school is different from doing well in life. Studies show that people who failed at school may not end up failing in life. Some famous people, like Thomas Edison and William Shakespeare, didn't do very well at school or even failed to finish school. In fact, they caught every chance to learn and finally made it to the top. So, if you work hard at any part in your life, you will be successful. The good grades at school are only the beginning.

Learning is a lifelong journey. If you have already finished school, keep learning because what you have learned at school will never be enough to live a satisfying life. If you are still studying, whether you are good or bad at school, don't take your school results too seriously as long as you have put your heart into it. Keep learning to make the most of your talents. That's how you can live a happy and successful life.

57. 新考向>What's the writer's main purpose (目的) of writing Paragraph One?

- A. To give an idea.
- B. To give examples.
- C. To introduce a topic.
- D. To talk about the reasons.

58. Why could the famous men make great success in life?

- A. Because they didn't need school education.
- B. Because they caught every chance to learn.
- C. Because they finished all the work themselves.
- D. Because they finished the school work on time.

59. Which sentence may agree with the writer's idea?

- A. It takes money to be successful.
- B. School grades aren't everything.
- C. Successful people never finish school.
- D. If you are successful, you don't need to learn.

60. What's the main idea of the last paragraph?

- A. Learning is a lifelong journey.
- B. Always worry about your subjects.
- C. Someone can succeed without hard work.

D. Good grades always make a successful life.

答案 57—60

D

I love singing. But I am often laughed at for being a woman with a really deep voice. I couldn't go to the choir (合唱团) as a kid. Because of this, I never sing when people are nearby.

I only sing in the car if I'm alone or when I'm home alone. My husband knows that I have this hobby. He wants to hear me sing. However, I never feel comfortable doing so.

One day, we were driving and it was a beautiful trip. I got a bit excited and I was feeling a bit brave. I said to my husband, "Could you put my favorite CD on?" He did and my true feelings came out. I couldn't help singing.

My husband started crying. Then I started getting choked up (哽咽). It was such a fantastic day. Now I want to share it with anyone who might listen. Sing out loud, people. Don't be afraid to be laughed at. Someone might even sing along.

61. Why do people laugh at the writer when she sings?

- A. She has an unusual voice.
- B. She looks like a kid.
- C. She is bad at singing.
- D. She is good at singing.

62. What can we learn about the husband from Paragraph 2?

- A. He likes singing.
- B. He understands his wife.
- C. He often leaves his wife alone.
- D. He is a singer.

63. Why did the writer ask her husband to put the CD on?

- A. She wanted to sing.
- B. She was tired of the trip.
- C. She liked to listen to it in the car.
- D. She felt bored on the trip.

64. What does the underlined word "fantastic" mean?

- A. Sorry. B. Busy. C. Happy. D. Nervous.

65. What can be the best title of the text?

- A. Sing out loud B. Travel with my husband
C. Share happiness with friends D. A good singer

IX. 任务型阅读(共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

阅读下面短文, 按要求完成 66-70 题。

We find it common in life that when people have different opinions in a group, they often change their own behavior to fit in the group. Most people have the conformity behavior (从众行为). If you always follow others just because they're greater than you in number, then sooner or later you'll discover that you're taking emotional decisions you might regret later. Follow these steps, so you can have a clearer point of view instead of following others blindly.

Improve the ability of yourself. To avoid falling into the pattern (模式) of the conformity behavior, you must work hard to learn knowledge and gain experience. Then you can at least have your own judgement (判断) of the things you do.

Never let others' opinions influence your choices. It doesn't mean that you should never follow people, but instead you should think wisely before you make a decision. Stay true to yourself by listening to the opinions that really matter—your own and those from people who believe in and encourage you. After all, no one knows you better than yourself.

Stay fearless in everything you will have to do. Most people follow others blindly just because they feel it safe to follow a large number of people. While they fear failure, they don't want to be seen as a misfit, either. If you want to live the life you truly want, you must give up the need to be liked by everybody. Be confident and believe what you are doing.

66 题完成句子; 67、68 题简略回答问题; 69 题找出并写下第四段的主题句; 70 题将文中画线句子译成汉语。
