New Message

Dear Headmaster,

Headmaster@shs.edu.cn

I am happy to recommend Jenny Thompson for the 2024 Youth Star Award.

As president of the Community Service Club, Jenny led successful projects like helping younger students and raising over 10,000 yuan for local shelters. She is always ready to help others. Jenny does well in her studies, especially in Science and Math, and often helps her classmates. She also volunteers at the local food bank and helps people in need.

Jenny is a good student and leader. I highly recommend her for the 2024 Youth Star Award.

Yours sincerely,
David Harrison
Community Service Coordinator Sunshine High School

Exhibition Ages of Splendor: A History of Spain in the Museo del Prado, running in Shanghai's Museum of Art Pudong from Apr 23 to Sept 1, marks the largest presentation of the Prado Museum's collection in China. One of the most famous paintings of all time, Leonardo da Vinci's Mona Lisa has a fine copy in the collection of Prado Museum in Madrid, Spain.

HOST: It's ALL THINGS CONSIDERED from Shanghai News with big news from the art world that's changing our understanding of the "Mona Lisa." There are many replicas (复制品) of Leonardo da Vinci's painting. But researchers in Madrid have examined one of them and discovered something new. This was created at the same time Leonardo was painting his Florentine lady with her famous smile. Martin, how did the researchers do this?

MARTIN: They used modern technology, something called infrared reflectography (红外反射成像). One's able to look under the surface of the paint. It's not exactly like an X-ray, but it's similar process. So they used this process, and found there were lines that were hidden under the surface of the two paintings but visible in the reflectography. So they reached the conclusion that the copyist of the painting had been working alongside Leonardo, seeing how he was creating his painting.

HOST: You know, I'm looking at the two works, Leonardo's from the Louvre and the other, the copy. The copy is much brighter, and she looks much the same but also quite a bit different. How do you think it changes what we understand about the original (原作)?

MARTIN: Well, it is surprising because, first of all, you see a much brighter and much more colorful image. The original "Mona Lisa" in the Louvre is difficult to see. And what is wonderful about the copy, the Prado "Mona Lisa", is how vivid it is, and you see Lisa in a quite different light. I mean, her eyes are charming, and you see her smile in a way that you don't quite get in the original.

19. Which painting is displayed in Shanghai's Museum of Art Pudong?

- A. The original "Mona Lisa".
- B. The Prado "Mona Lisa".
- C. The "Ages of Splendor".
- D. The "Museo del Prado".

20. What does the underlined word "This" in Paragraph 2 refer to?

- A. Florentine lady.
- B. The famous smile.
- C. Leonardo's work.
- D. One of the replicas.

21. The underlined word "visible" in Paragraph 3 is the closest in meaning to "_____".

- A. that can be kept
- B. that can be seen
- C. that can be covered
- D. that can be opened

22. Which of the following shows Martin's opinion about the copy of the "Mona Lisa"?

- A. The copy is exactly the same as the original.
- B. He doesn't get the beauty in Prado "Mona Lisa".
- C. The copy of the "Mona Lisa" seems more attractive.
- D. The original "Mona Lisa" in the Louvre is better than the copy.

23. Which is the best possible title for this passage?

- A. The Mona Lisa's Twin Painting
- B. The Mona Lisa Exhibition
- C. Leonardo's Paintings of All Time
- D. Florentine Lady with Her Smile
